Transportation Inquiry Is New Federal Plan

Hon. C. D. Howe Tells Railway Workers' Delegation At Ottawa Whole System of Use of Trucks and Busses on Highways May Soon Be Subject of Recommendations by Royal Commission; Regulation of Growing Competition With Railways Urged

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Railways and Marine, to-day told a delegation from the affiliated railwaymen's organizations of Ontario "possibly a royal commission may be named to examine the whole situation of the use of trucks and busses on public highways."

His first step, though, would be an effort to secure uniformity of legislation as between the provinces and the Dominion so as to bring about a similarity in laws as far as possible governing operation of trucks and busses entirely within a province, those who carry on inter-provincial business and commercial motor vehicles which cross the international boundary.

CONFERENCE DISCUSSION

This question, the minister said, would be taken up at the Dominion Provincial conference convening here December 9, when the whole situation of competition of trucks and busses with Canadian railways would be discussed.

The delegation, headed by H. B Huston, London, Ont., president of the organization, interviewed the minister in private.

CONTROL BY BOARD

Main representations were that control of busses and trucks be placed under the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, or a similar body set up by each province, to maintain freight rates at a fair level and prevent unfair competition; taxation of busses and trucks on a scale adopted by the government of Great Britain; and regulations that

Vancouver, Dec. 3.—Ald. A. G. Harvey to-day resigned from the civic committee investigating allegations of W. A. The mayor expressed no surprise when he learned of the alderman's decision. In the course of a statement on the subject he took the opportunity to say the present inquiry

Canadian Press From Havas

London, Dec. 3. — Ambassador Quo Tai-chi of China, who protested this morning to the British Foreign Office that Japan had violated the Nine-Power Treaty in sponsoring the north China autonomy movement, was understood to-night to have also invoked the covenant of the League of Nations.

The Chinese government, in moves said to have been made simultaneously in London, Paris, Washington and other interested capitals, was understood to have cited articles X and XI of the League covenant.

AGAINST AGGRESSION

Article X provides that "members of the League undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League." Ethiopia invoked this article in the preliminary clash with Italy.

Article XI, also cited, specifies that "any threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the members

Bright Prospects For B.C. Lumber There, Says Chief Forester on Return

Sales of British Columbia timber in South Africa are growing and probably will continue to grow, although not in a spectacular way, according to P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester of the province, who returned this week after attending the fourth British Empire Forestry Conference in South Africa.

The upward trend, he pointed out, is indicated this year, with shipments from British Columbia for the first ten months totaling 24,372,000 board feet against a total for the whole of last year of 25,275,000 feet.

British Columbia has been taking aggressive steps to cultivate the South African market which totals about 200,000,000 feet a year of large construction timbers, the kind this province is selling. Her chief competitors are the Baltic countries, Australia and the East Indies.

Through representations of the timber industry of the province, with government co-operation, a reduction was recently secured in the freight rate for the back haul of British Columbia lumber from coast ports to the interior of South Africa. This is a big factor in determining the cost of the lumber at the market and due to methods of measurement there appeared to be discrimination against British Columbia shipments.

Every Step Taken Is For Prevention of European War, Declares Baldwin

At Opening of New Commons in London Prime Minister Replies to Opposition Charge That Rearmament of Britain Increases Threat of General Hostilities; King Not Present at Opening; Speech From Throne Read by Lord Chancellor

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 3.—"I am going to lose no chance for this country to get peace instead of war," Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin declared to-day in the first debate of the newly-elected House of Commons.

The Prime Minister was replying to an attack on the National Government's foreign policy by Major C. R. Attlee, Labor leader of the opposition, who asserted the rearmament programme outlined in the speech from the Throne to-day would increase the threat of war.

"The League is on trial," said the Prime Minister, "and if the League is able to end this terrible dispute, every lover of peace in Europe will be grateful and thankful—provided always the conditions laid down are the conditions obtained."

TOO MUCH PROMINENCE

Criticism of the part played by Britain in applying League of Nations sanctions against Italy had been given undue prominence, declared Mr. Baldwin. "A country with an influence like ours surely had to shoulder the responsibilities that face all nations," he said. "In conjunction with other countries Great Britain will explore whether there is an honorable way of bringing to cessation the East African conflict on terms that command themselves to both parties to the dispute and to the League."

ON SAME FOOTING

Leading the newly-elected opposition in its first parliamentary attack on the National Government, Mr. Attlee declared Britain was treating Italy, an aggressor nation, on the same footing as other powers.

He could not see, said the Opposition leader, how a settlement equally agreeable to the League, Italy and Ethiopia, as the government stipulated, could ever be reached. This, he asserted, was as though the Home Secretary referred to an epidemic of Nearly all of the forenoon session was devoted to evidence given by Chris. Wright, former accountant of the A. E. Planta Co. Ltd. Yesterday's evidence disclosed that up until a certain period, Aho had received his interest payments regularly. Wright swore to-day that as accountant he had made out cheques for Aho and charged the same to the interest debit account.

Coast Witnesses For Regina Riot Investigaton

Persons Expected to Go From Vancouver and Tell About Relief Camps and Start of Trek

Canadian Press

Regina, Dec. 3.—Witnesses may be brought to Regina from Vancouver to tell about the origins of the On-to-Ottawa trek and the two-month stay of relief camps strikers in the coast city before the trek was formed.

Frank O. Cunningham, striker's counsel, to-day asked the commissioners conducting the investigation into the Regina riot of July 1 last to consider sending a representative to Vancouver to locate witnesses and prepare evidence, to be brought before the commission either at Vancouver or Regina.

There was considerable evidence at Vancouver and in British Columbia relief camps relevant to the inquiry which should be sifted whether the commission goes to Vancouver or not, said Mr. Cunningham.

Chief Justice Brown, chairman of the commission, promised "full consideration" of the request, but disagreed with the suggestion that the representative be Arthur Evans, trek leader, who Monday completed nearly twenty-two hours of testifying.

MUST BE IMPARTIAL

Preparation of witnesses and evidence at Vancouver "must be done in an impartial way," he said. It should be left to counsel for the commission.

His personal opinion, said Chairman Brawn, was that some "unbiased young men" who had been in the

G. B. Crump Secures Nomination Forms at City Hall

Grounds for speculation over the possibility of an opponent for Mayor David Leeming in the forthcoming civic elections were seen to-day when George Bernard Crump, 2201 Chambers Street, took out nomination papers for the mayoralty at the City Hall.

Questioned on his intentions, Mr. Crump said he had no statement to make. He was not prepared to-day to state that he was intending to enter the fight or that he had taken out the papers for someone else.

It was understood some question had been raised over his property qualification for the post.

Should he decide to take the field, contests would be assured in all department, ten candidates having indicated their intention of seeking five council seats and seven others having declared themselves in the ring for four school trustee posts.

More than 2,000 single men were reported to be awaiting camp assignments in Calgary and Edmonton-day.

Savings Deposits In Canada Growing

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Savings deposits in Canadian chartered banks on October 31, amounted to $1,465,301,708, almost $100,000,000 more than on the corresponding date in 1934, according to the monthly statement of the banks to the Department of Finance made public to-day. There was a $21,000,000 increase in deposits since last September 30.

Current account deposits also showed a marked increase, being up $35,000,000 in the month and more than $80,000,000 as compared with October 31, 1934.

Deposits outside Canada were up about $6,000,000 in the month and more than $60,000,000 in the year, accounted for in a large measure by the increasing deposits of currency other than Canadian in Canadian banks, which are shown in this column.

Current loans in Canada were down some $15,000,000 in the month and $40,000,000 less than a year ago, while call loans were also down.

Princess Victoria's Death Is Mourned

Sister of King Passes Away in 68th Year; Funeral at Windsor Castle Saturday

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 3. — The royal family grieved to-day over the death of Princess Victoria.

Her Royal Highness, a sister of the King, died early this morning at her home, Coppins, Iver, Buckinghamshire, following a severe stomach hemorrhage. She was sixty-seven.

There was widespread sorrow throughout the United Kingdom as the news was received.

The funeral will be held Saturday, December 7, at St. George's Chapel in Windsor Castle.

Lumber which is placed at ship's side in British Columbia ports for around $15 a thousand feet sells retail in South Africa for as much as $80 and $90 a thousand due to the freight and handling charges with profits of the dealers added.

The conference which Mr. Caverhill attended as one of the Canadian delegates lasted from September 2 to October 7, with a number of field trips to inspect work being done. Sixty delegates attended in all, including six from Canada, seven from Australia, seven from the United Kingdom, four from India and one each from the various colonies, with twenty-five from South Africa.

The discussions opened in Durban and then field trips were made to the pine plantations of Zululand and northern Natal and the wattle plantations of Pietermaritzburg. These are trees which have been imported and developed in a country which has a notably sparse supply of native construction woods.

PRESENTED PAPERS

The general meetings were held in Pretoria, capital of the Transvaal. Mr. Caverhill presented papers on British Columbia's forestry wok and silviculture, among them being the most complete census of British Columbia forests yet compiled.

In a field trip to northeast Transvaal, Mr. Caverhill was greatly interested in reforestation schemes and also in special thinning methods adopted to stimulate growth and yield of the wattle.

Mr. Caverhill returned by way of England and in Ottawa attended a forestry research conference called by the federal government to discuss problems in this work.

Coast Witnesses For Regina Riot Investigation relief camps and on the strike should be heard.

Matters requiring testimony of witnesses available only in Vancouver, Mr. Cunningham said, were the attitude of citizens to the strikers, especially on such occasions as store demonstrations, and April 23 when the Riot Act was read; Organization of the strike and the trek; and the "utter hopelessness" of the men in relief camps.

GEORGE BLACK HEARD

On the witness stand all this morning was George Black, another trek leader who gave details of the journey and stops en route from Vancouver to Regina.

At Calgary, he said, the freight train was stopped to suit the convenience of the strikers in unloading. Motorcycle policemen led them to the exhibition grounds.

Being short of funds, the men decided on a tag day and began to negotiate with Calgary and Alberta officials for relief.

A. A. McKenzie, Alberta relief commissioner, refused at first to see a delegation of the strikers in his office, Black recounted, and Col Saunders, relief official, when the delegation was admitted, "started to harangue us about communism and called us hoodlums."

Saunders said "we were paid agents of Moscow and the strikers were just our dupes."

SAYS ISSUE EVADED

The colonel "evaded the issue at all times of granting us relief."

Black further quoted this man that there were plenty of guns in Canada and "they would just as soon use them on the strikers."

A delegation of Calgary citizens was present and impeded the departure of McKenzie and Saunders from the office, he said. The strikers stayed a while and a wire was sent to Prime Minister Bennett, to which no answer was received. Meanwhile as the Alberta officials and strikers and citizens remained in the office, Black negotiated with city officials and relief was granted.

FAIRNESS OF COURT

At yesterday's session of the inquiry a discussion of the fairness of courts in dealing with working class political cases brought from Chief Justice J. T. Brown, chairman of the commission, assurance that any evidence brought against the On-to-Ottawa trek leaders would not be permitted to prejudice the case of the trekkers.

"I assure you," Chief Justice Brown said to Arthur Evans, trek leader, "the case of the 2,000 young men will not be prejudiced."

The chairman warmly defended the courts of Canada as he argued with Mr. Evans that judges could be and were "sympathetic" to working class defendants.

"You're all astray," said the chairman, "if you say a judge is not sympathetic."

"I would say to you," the witness replied, "you or any judge cannot possibly put yourself in the position of the working class that is fighting for a living. You are out of touch with the situation."

Chief Justice Brown: You are putting us in touch with the situation, my dear man.

A judge, Mr. Evans contended, did not take into consideration in judging a man's actions that his wife might be starving.

DEFENCE FOR ALL

If a starving man stole a loaf of broad, said Chief Justice Brown, a judge had to find him guilty. "That's the law," but that did not mean the judge was not sympathetic. He said every man got the utmost opportunity to defend himself in the courts, and in many cases was entitled to judgment from a jury of his peers.

Mr. Evans then charged that counsel in cross-examining him at the inquiry "are trying to discredit 2,000 young men through me. I say it is not right."

The chairman assured him the case of the trekkers would not be prejudiced.

housebreaking by remarking he hoped shortly to come to a settlement equally agreeable to the housebreaker, the householder and the Home Secretary.

OPENING CEREMONY

The members of the Commons crowded into the House of Lords chamber at noon and heard the Speech from the Throne. In it assurances were given Great Britain will firmly support the League of Nations and strengthen her own defence forces.

With the court and the nation in mourning for the death of the King's sister, Princess Victoria, there was none of the pomp and pageantry associated with a state opening of Parliment. The King himself was not present. Flanked by two royal commissioners, Viscount Hailsham, Lord Chancellor, read the speech, which sounded the keynote of the National Government's policy during the session officially begun to-day.

SUPPORTING LEAGUE

The King's speech as read by the Lord Chancellor opened with regret that "I am not addressing you in person to-day. It declared the government's foreign policy, as heretofore, will be based on firm support of the League of Nations. The government would remain prepared to fulfil in co-operation with other members of the League the obligations of the covenant.

Fulfilment of obligations under the covenant no less than the adequate safeguarding of the Empire "make it urgently necessary that deficiencies in my defence forces should be made good." Proposals to be submitted to Parliament, the speech continued, would be limited to the "minimum required for these two purposes"

COAL INDUSTRY

The government's domestic policy would pay a special attention to those areas where the burden of unemployment is greatest. Under the Coal Mines Act orders would be submittd to Parliamnt co-ordinating the selling arrangements in the coal industry. A measure to unify coal royalties under national control would also be introduced, and commissioners would be appointed to inquire into the safety of mine workers.

RAILWAY LOAN

1. Unemployment insurance for farm workers.

2. State guarantees for a railway development loan.

3. Development of civil airways both in Britain and throughout the Empire.

4. A scheme dealing with the problem of surplus production in the cotton spinning industry.

5. An increase in the school attendance age with further provision for education.

6. Development of social services with vigorous measures to improve the health and physique of the nation.

DEBATE PLANS

After hearing Lord Hailsham read the Speech from the Throne, the Commoners, led by the Speaker, returned to their own chamber. They immediately adjourned. Later they returned and began the debate. This discussion is expected to last three days.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

The Throne Speech, as read by the Lord Chancellor, said in part:

"My Lords and members of the House of Commons.

"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly. My government's foreign policy will, as heretofore, be based on the firm support of the League of Nations. They will remain prepared to fulfil in co-operation with the other members of the League the obligations of the covenant. In particular they are determined to use at all times full weight of their influence for the preservation of peace.

"In pursuance of these obligations my government felt compelled to adopt, in co-operation with some fifty other states, members of the League, certain measures of an economic and financial nature in regard to Italy.

"At the same time they will continue to exert their influence in favor of peace acceptable to the three parties in the dispute, namely, Italy, Ethiopia and the League of Nations

REAL ISSUE

During his speech Labor Leader Attlee declared increased armaments were the real point of the Speech from the Throne, and he described the rest as merely window-dressing and trimmings.

To the opposition leader's criticism of the 1919 treaties binding European nations, the Prime Minister replied that the modification of existing treaties was one thing, but their unilateral repudiation meant only "the rule of force."

Modern Europe, said Mr. Baldwin, was determined to prevent the tearing up of treaties, and this determination was revealed by recent events in which a country which enjoyed the friendship of all other countries in Europe had been declared the aggressor in East Africa and subjected to economic sanctions under the League Covenant.

Vancouver, Dec. 3.—The civic inquiry into affidavits of W. A. Tucker charging irregularities in the Vancouver city internal audit department has been adjourned until the return of Mayor G. G. McGeer, chairman of the investigating committee, from Montreal and Ottawa, probably after December 15.

Mayor McGeer will leave to-night with Ald. G. C. Miller and Ald. J. J. McRae for Montreal to attend a conference of Canadian mayors.

A previous attempt to have the point determined by writ of quo warranto was dismissed by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison of the British Columbia Supreme Court on a technical objection taken by Judge Ellis's counsel.

The present application will probably be heard Friday in the Supreme Court.

performed, but has only been of temporary benefit. The condition of Her Royal Highness is critical."

A few hours later, at 3.35 a.m., she died.

INFORMATION TELEPHONED

The news immediately was telephoned to Buckingham Palace and to Sandringham Lodge, in Norfolk, where here sister, Queen Maude of Norway, is staying. The first cousin of the Princess, former Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain, also was notified in London.

Princess Victoria Alexandra Olga Mary, who never was married, is survived by her sister, whose full name was Princess Maud Charlotte Mary Victoria. A year younger than Princess Victoria, she was married to Haakon VII, King of Norway, in 1896. The only other immediate relative is her brother, the King.

PUBLIC EVENTS

Over a long period of years it was Princess Victoria's principle role to occupy the third place in the royal carriage when King Edward and Queen Alexandra went on regal or semi-regal business. She accompanied Their Majesties to Ireland in 1907, when they were cordially received although the visit practically coincided with the birth of Sinn Fein. King Edward was intensely annoyed, however, because only four days earlier it had been discovered the crown jewels at Dublin were missing.

Her Royal Highness Princess Victoria Alexandra Olga Mary, fourth child and second daughter of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, was born at Marlborough House July 6, 1868.

She was the favorite grandchild of Queen Victoria. Her mother, Queen Alexandra, died on November 20, 1925.

Transportation Inquiry Is New Federal Plan

"It is recognized by competent authorities that busses and trucks are competing with the steam railways on a basis which is quite unfair," the delegation stated. While the provinces had imposed from time to time regulations on the operation of busses and trucks which afford some measure of control, railways were subject to much more drastic regulation.

CREAM OF BUSINESS

Trucks were "taking the cream of the freight business, leaving the unprofitable business for the railway and express companies." This condition was becoming constantly more aggravated and if it continued the railways would be deprived of almost all freight, excepting such commodities which on account of their peculiar nature, could be handled by the railways only, delegates represented.

If control of busses and trucks were placed under the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, or a similar body set up by each province, it would "put all systems of transportation under the one control to get the most equitable result."

In this way, freight rates could be maintained at a level "which will provide a fair and reasonable return to all systems of transportation, prevent unfair competition, and provide shippers with the lowest reasonable cost of service and co-ordinate the various transportation systems so that each will be able to give the public the service it is capable of delivering."

Nanaimo Jury Hears Evidence in Senator's Case

No money had been received from Mrs. Bernard as payment of interest on the Aho mortgage, but had been paid out of the firm's money.

It is not expected the case will go to the jury before to-morrow morning

ANNUAL STATEMENT

Wright testified when he first took over his duties he had been told to prepare the annual statement, but he could not say by whom. Other years he had prepared it "on his own." He said he had studied the Companies Act of British Columbia.

Asked by J. Nicholson of Vancouver, defence counsel, if to his knowledge it was not a common practice for firms engaged in the guarantee mortgage business not to fill in signed forms before they had the description of the property or before they knew from what source the money could be secured, the witness replied he believed so.

The firm of A. E. Planta Ltd. had an allotment of 1,000 shares, 501 of which were allotted to the Senator and one share each to Clive Planta and Murray Planta, who were all the officers of the company.

METHOD OF PAYMENT

Wright and Murray Planta signed cheques for the firm, he testified, when the Senator was in Ottawa often paying their own salaries and other moneys out. Senator Planta had paid large sums of his own personal moneys into the firm while he was employed there, he said.

J. S. Mather, trustee for A. E Planta Ltd. in bankruptcy, testified the books showed Senator Planta had paid large sums of his own personal money to his firm at different times.

YESTERDAY'S HEARING

Testifying yesterday, Aho said the interest payments were met until 1934, when he was given only part of the amount due. When the total interest sum was not paid the following month Aho said he went to Mrs. Bernard and learned she had never received any of the money paid by Aho for the mortgage.

Aho said he spoke to Senator Planta, who told him he was sorry and promised to pay back every dollar after the Senate session was over. The mortgage had been paid in full and the Senator had asked him to withdraw the charge, Aho said.

Aho replied he was satisfied, but that the matter was then out of his hands.

Mrs. Bernard said Senator Planta had looked after her business affairs for forty-five years.

SANCTIONS CUT ITALY'S TRADE

Associated Press

Rome, Dec. 3.—Italian business leaders said yesterday trade was slackening and that problems of labor and business credit were developing as the result of League of Nations sanctions.

They said imports and exports, which normally total about 1,000,000,000 lire, (about $80,000,000) monthly, were being cut to a point where estimates as to the probable damages were possible.

They suggested that if this trade were only halved, the reduction would be equivalent to the wages paid monthly to nearly 1,000,000 men.

END OF WAR IN AFRICA URGED

Canadian Press From Havas

London, Dec. 3.—King Leopold of the Belgians unofficially was reported to have urged speedy settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict when he was a luncheon guest of the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

The Belgian ruler was said to have based his plea on the close family ties uniting Belgium and Italy.

SALES TAX SUIT IS DISMISSED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Mr. Justice Maclean, president of Exchequer Court of Canada yesterday handed down judgment dismissing claim of the crown against the B.C. Brick and Tile Co. Limited of Sullivan, B.C., near Vancouver, for an alleged balance of sales tax amounting to $1,443. The period covered was from August 1, 1927, to December 31, 1933, when the entire production of building brick by the defendant company was sold to the Victoria Tile and Brick Supply Co. Limited.

In his decision Mr. Justice Maclean ruled against the contention of the crown that the Victoria company was merely the agent of the defendant company. He therefore dismissed the claim the defendant company should have paid sales tax on the sales price of the Victoria company and not on the lower price as between the defendant company and the Victoria company.

DAMAGES OF $12,816 GIVEN

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 3.—On the basis of a 40-60 per cent finding of negligence, Hylton A. Tilley, thirty-four, Prince George, B.C., is awarded $12,816 damages against John O. Wilson, Prince George, under a written judgment handed down in the B.C. Supreme Court yesterday by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson.

Tilley was run over by Wilson's car on the Vanderhoof-Prince George highway June 11, suffering injuries which the judge describes in his decision as of a "terrible nature,' including a broken back.

Tilley's truck had developed engine trouble, which he was endeavoring to repair, flagging approaching cars to warn them of the truck parked on the road. He ran towards Wilson's car coming down the hill to give warning and stepped off the road to avoid the oncoming car.

Wilson turned off the road in an effort to avoid Tilley, but hit and ran over the young man.

Mr. Justice Robertson tried Tilley's action for damages at Prince George October 30 and 31. His judgment assesses damages at $20,000 general and $1,361 special, and fixes responsibility 40 per cent on Tilley and 60 per cent on Wilson.

Last Rites For Late T. Mulvey

Death of Former Secretary of State at Ottawa Mourned

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—A requiem high mass was held in St. Joseph's Church here to-day for the late Thomas Mulvey. To-morrow morning a Libera service will be held in St. Basil's Church, Toronto, with interment in St. Michael's Cemetery, Toronto.

Mr. Mulvey, former Under-Secretary of State, and one of the foremost authorities in Canada on company law, died here at the week-end. He retired from the government service two years ago.

Mr. Mulvey was born in Toronto, August 18, 1863, and was educated at St. Michael's College and the University of Toronto. Following graduation from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, he practiced law in that city until 1903, when he was appointed assistant provincial secretary of Ontario.

In 1909, Hon. Charles Murphy was seeking an under-secretary of state at Ottawa to replace Sir Joseph Pope, Sir John A. Macdonald's old secretary, who was transferred to the new Department of External Affairs. He chose Mr. Mulvey, an old friend, with whom he had attended law school. Senator Murphy died a week ago.

CUSTODIAN OF PROPERTY

During the Great War Mr. Mulvey was chairman of the enemy debts and reparation committee. He collected more than $50,000,000 in cash, securities and properties, including hotels, mines, timber limits and farms owned in Canada by German nationals. Following the war, he received German reparations and headed the committee that distributed the money.

Mr. Mulvey was appointed a K.C. in 1902 and was honored with a C.M.G. in 1934.

He is survived by two sons, Charles of Toronto and John of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. E. A. Anglin and Mrs. D. E. A. Rispin, Ottawa, and one brother, Charles Mulvey of Vancouver.

SEAWEED IS FED TO HENS

Cows' Milk Also Used by People in Science's New Attack on Goitre

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Ithica, N.Y., Dec. 3.—Experiments that offer a better method of combating goitre were described to-day at Cornell University. In tests lasting eight years the iodine content of eggs and milk has been multiplied many fold by feeding hens and cows on seaweed.

The sea is one of the richest sources in the kind of iodine that prevents goitre. In one type of seaweed, macrocystis pyrifera, commonly called kelp, Prof. George W. Cavanaugh of the chemistry department, has demonstrated practical ways of getting this sea iodine into two of the most general articles of diet.

The iodine eggs are the first of their kind. Ordinary eggs contain from fifty to 100 parts of iodine per billion of egg. The new Cornell eggs contain 5,000 parts.

One of these eggs is equivalent in iodine to half a live lobster, the richest known sea animal in the goitre preventing substance.

For iodine milk only the seaweed is added to the usual grain feed of cows. The result is milk containing ten to twenty times the usual amount of iodine.

Kelp, or machrocystis pyrifera as the scientists know it, is plentiful off the British Columbia coast and elsewhere along the Pacific Coast of North and South America.

RAILWAY FIGURES

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—For the nine months ended September 30, gross revenues of the railways of Canada, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, increased from $218,206,109 in 1934, to $220,730,659 in the 1935 period, and operating expenses from $188,368,238 to $195,496,357, but the operating income declined from $20,714,245 to $17,049,387.

Payment of $1,100, the city's share of the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria requirements to cover the deficit this year, was authorized by the City Council yesterday evening.

Change In Gravity Found By Russians

Alteration in Earth's Pulling Power Disclosed By Studies Made in Caucasus

Associated Press

Moscow, Dec. 3. — The Soviet Academy of Sciences announced yesterday evening it had discovered definite signs that the earth's pulling power—gravity—is undergoing alterations.

An expedition sent by the Academy to the Caucasus, where the phenomenon was said to have reached noticeable proportions, reported it was convinced changes in gravity actually were taking place.

Objects which have undergone no change in bulk or material composition nevertheless have, over a period of years, fluctuated in weight, the scientists said.

This was described as due to "very slow, secular alterations in the gavity of the earth" which, the explorers believed, were "the result of gigantic catastrophes and shiftings of huge masses of matter deep under the surface."

Bridge Approval Soon Expected

Premier to Take It Up at Ottawa; Right of Way Being Acquired

Final approval by the federal govement of the New Westminster bridge plans is expected this month. Premier Pattullo will take the matter up while he is in Ottawa for the Dominion-provincial conference.

The only point remaining to be settled, it was explained here to-day, deals with the Federal Government's insistence that a lift span should be constructed in the old bridge when the new one is in operation. This is the demand of pilots on the river. The provincial government, having given notice it will abandon the old bridge when the new one is ready, is taking the position that it will have no responsibility for the old structure and therefore approval of the new structure should be granted.

Progress is being made, it was learned, in the acquiring of property for the right of way and approaches to the new bridge. The major portion of the land required on the south side and nearly half of what is needed on the north side has been secured with an expenditure of roughly $25,000. Negotiations are proceeding on other properties.

Saskatchewan Minister Elected

Hon. W. F. Kerr, New Department Head, Returned to Legislature

Regina, Dec. 3.—Saskatchewan's Liberal government won its third by-election in two weeks yesterday when Hon. William Franklin Kerr, new Minister of Natural Resources, was returned by a majority of more than 5,000.

Following his elevation to the cabinet, Mr. Kerr was opposed in the Regina by-election by Dr. Denis Sweeney, former alderman running as an Independent.

Unofficial returns showed the 135 polls gave Kerr 11,762, with 6,149 for Sweeney, representing about 60 per cent of the eligible vote.

Mr. Kerr was first elected to the Legislature in the general election June 19, 1934.

EX-POLICE CHIEF SENT TO PRISON

Canadian Press

Lethbridge, Alta., Dec. 3.—Joseph Fitzpatrick, former Blairmore chief of police, yesterday was sentenced to two years less one day in the Lethbridge provincial jail when he was found guilty of extortion.

Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, who heard the case without a jury, pronounced the sentence.

Fitzpatrick, fifty-years old, was charged with obtaining $1,000 from San Cbilski, a Blairmore miner, in a case which involved Leona Cudmore. The girl co-defendant was killed in an automobile accident near Coleman, Alta., November 9.

Hydro Plan In Saskatchewan

Canadian Press

Regina, Dec. 3.—Federal development of a $15,000,000 hydro power project is sought in Saskatchewan. Provincial delegates will discuss proposals at the Dominion-provincial conference at Ottawa, December 9, and preliminary work may be undertaken as a relief project.

Already surveyed and investigated, site of the big project is on the Saskatchewan River at Old Fort a la Corne, north of Melfort.

Power could be made available for industrial purposes in lumbering areas and could be used for light and power in some of the larger urban centres in northern Saskatchewan.

While the entire project involves expenditure of approximately $15,000,000, provision is made for splitting the development of the project into smaller units.

This project will be included in Saskatchewan's proposed works programme to replace direct relief, according to Hon. T. C. Davis, Attorney-General.

Hepburn Now Regains Health

Toronto Globe Reports He Is Expected to Continue As Ontario Premier

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Ontario Government officials to-day expressed belief Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn will carry on indefinitely as Ontario Premier and Liberal leader, The Toronto Globe says in a news story. The newspaper says the Premier is rapidly regaining his health while on his southern holiday trip and he is expected home within a few days. His expressed willingness to go immediately on his return to Ottawa to head the Ontario delegation in the Dominion-Provincial conference, coupled with the good health reports, has given his colleagues confidence he will not retire after the forthcoming session of the legislature, as he previously announced, says The Globe.

Butter Imports Are Opposed

Canadian Press

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 3.—Attention of the Dominion Government has been called to three important matters affecting the dairy industry in resolutions forwarded by the Canadian dairy Farmers Federation to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, it was announced to-day by Secretary H. B. Cowan.

Pleasure was expressed at duty reductions on fresh cream and cheese exported to the United States.

The second resolution states information has been received a shipment of butter was in transit from New Zealand to Vancouver and points out stocks of butter in storage in Canada are abnormally large and the mere possibility of imports of New Zealand butter being unloaded on Canadian markets would encourage unloading of Canadian butter now in storage. The government is asked to take action to protect Canadian producers from heavy losses through a price drop.

A third resolution says skimmed milk powder from New Zealand is being offered in Montreal at six cents a pound, all charges paid, while the Canadian powder averages nine cents. The government is urged to preserve the Canadian market for Canadian dairy farmers.

LEGION SESSION IN VANCOUVER

Veterans Will Hold Dominion Convention There Next March

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—The Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion will be held at Vancouver, beginning March 23, 1936, according to an announcement by Brig.-Gen. Alex Ross, dominion president. The date was set at a meeting here over the week-end of the sub-executive of the dominion council.

It was indicated the Vancouver meeting will probably be the last to be held at a centre outside of Ottawa. Heavy expense has always fallen on the legion in the transportation of its records and technical officials from dominion headquarters here to outside convention centres.

On Saturday the sub-executive met Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions, and discussed with him a variety of ex-service men's problems. Chief among these was unemployment among war veterans.

PRINCE WINS AT LIVESTOCK SHOW

The Prince's three entries from his E.P. Ranch at High River, Alta., have captured the fancy of exposition spectators who daily crowd the stalls where the royal entries are housed.

The Annapolis Valley man arrived here Saturday. He said failure of the English crop and high grade of the Nova Scotia fruit were responsible for the large sales and high prices received.

THE MOTION PICTURE AGREEMENT

BY A VOTE OF SEVEN TO FOUR THE City Council yesterday decided to spend $9,100 on the woolen mill building near Ogden Point for motion picture purposes contingent on the substantial reduction of the duty on operating equipment and the posting of a bond of $2,500 by the promoters. The alterations comprise the removal of machinery, putting on and raising a new roof and reflooring. Victoria also will still carry the insurance, the rate, probably, being increased, while the premises will be tax free. On their part the promoters agree to pay a rental of $600 a year for the first five years, $750 a year the second five years and $1,500 annually for the following ten years. Just what they would pay after twenty years evidently did not find a place in the agreement. They agree to incorporate the name of this city in such pictures as they may be able to sell.

The venture, of course, is entirely speculative, and the promoters obviously have little resources, for if they had they would not have asked the city to make the repairs on the building. Any company in the motion picture production business on a worth-while scale would jump at the chance of getting the use of the building for the rental agreed to alone, and would undertake its own alterations. Indeed, if it had any prospect of marketing its product to such an extent as to enable it to operate for five years it would have a gilt-edged snap if it paid only $750 per annum, while if it survived for ten years it would control an enterprise so profitable that it could easily afford to pay $1,500 monthly instead of yearly for the second ten years.

Under the present arrangement the city has the small end of the bargain, with the possibility of having on its hand an unused establishment on which it will have spent more than $9,000 and receiving nothing in return beyond the $2,500 posted as a bond by the promoters. It is true that eventually the city will have to spend several thousands to cover the depreciation of the building, in any case, but there is no immediate need of this.

Nothing seems to strike a credulous chord in the mind of Victoria as resoundingly as a proposal—any proposal—for the establishment of a motion picture industry here. Up to date there have been more than a score of these propositions, many of them from irresponsible people whose irresponsibility could have been discovered with a little inquiry in the proper quarters. Some of them were actually fantastic and the consideration they received here provoked no little mirth in responsible motion picture quarters in the south.

About ten years ago the city, by by-law approved by the ratepayers, agreed to lease a site and guarantee principal and interest at 5 per cent on $200,000, provided the promoter raised a similar sum in the Old Country. The gentleman was positive he could get the money, and went to England to do so, but he has not been seen, and probably has not been heard from or of, since. In the light of our record on guarantees it is rather surprising that we did not undertake the liability of $200,000 without requiring the promoter to raise any money or to do anything more than to include "Victoria's name" in the pictures, assuming—and this is an important proviso—he was able to sell them.

There is here now a company in full operation, which has made one picture, and is planning another, and which has sought no other concessions from Victoria than the use at a nominal rental of one of the exhibition buildings. If this company should be successful in producing pictures satisfactory for the market, as it is generally hoped it will be, it will have done more than anything else to promote the industry here. An ounce of its practical enterprise is worth many tons of the specious representations with which the weirdly sensitive palate of the city on the subject of motion pictures has been tickled in the last ten or fifteen years. In this case the producers, not the ratepayers, assume virtually all of the risk, incidentally showing much more confidence in Victoria for their purpose than those who want far-fetched concessions at the public expense.

TRADE BALANCE

AN OLD CONTROVERSY HAS cropped up again since the negotiation of the new reciprocal business arrangement between this country and the neighboring republic. One contemporary says "there is not a shadow of possibility that the reciprocity pact negotiated between Canada and the United States will right the adverse balance of trade under which this country labors." We agree; nor is there the faintest chance of a direct "all-square" economic deal between any two countries, for that matter, unless the commerce is cut down to what euphemistically may be called "small change."

As we have pointed out in these columns many times, not since 1874 has Canada been on the credit side of the ledger in her dealings with the United States. Trade with our neighbor is not a political matter. It is simply a matter of business, governed by geography, economic needs and population.

Suppose, under the new reciprocity pact, "it is certain that the United States will increase her sales in Canada to a greater extent than Canada will increase hers to the United States," will Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or Mr. Hungerford, of the Canadian National, for example, complain, so long as their transportation systems have more goods to haul from point to point?

If this increased traffic strengthens the position of our railways to any appreciative extent, as it is likely to do, we shall be able to contemplate the inevitable adverse trading balance with equanimity.

Another factor tending to counteract the unfavorable balance of trade with the United States lies in tourist travel, the balance of which is substantially in favor of Canada, and which, if we have sense enough to develop it properly, will more than close the gap between Canadian exports to the United States and our imports from that country.

ANOTHER CANADIAN WHEAT KING

ONCE AGAIN CANADA HAS ROMPED home with the world's wheat king trophy at the 1935 International Livestock Exposition's seventeenth annual grain and hay show at Chicago. The winner is W. Frelan Wilford of Stavely, Alberta. And we in this part of the world may take a little credit for Canada's triumph.

Mr. C. W. Stirling of Sidney, Vancouver Island, took first prize in large yellow peas—and he also is named as reserve champion in the pea section. Then there is William Rogers of Tappen, B.C.; J. Decker of Pemberton, and W. G. Gibson of Ladner, all of whom landed up in the top rank of prize winners.

Mr. Wilford exhibited hard Red spring wheat. His display once again showed what Canada has been able to do in the development of the fine hard wheat which means so much in the production of flour for the finest bread.

Canada naturally feels elated that the 1935 title should be retained by the Dominion. Not since 1928 has this coveted trophy been captured by any other country. In that year, C. Ed. Smith, United States, won it, retaining it from the previous year, while Herman Trelle of Wembley, Alberta, made for himself a name by being crowned the world's wheat king. He won it three times afterward. Here is the list of Canadian victories since 1911:

1911—Seager Wheeler, Rosthern, Sask.
1912—Henry Holmes, Alberta.
1913—Paul Gerlach, Saskatchewan.
1914—Seager Wheeler, Saskatchewan.
1915—Seager Wheeler, Saskatchewan.
1916—Seager Wheeler, Saskatchewan.
1917—Samuel Larcombe, Manitoba.
1918—Seager Wheeler, Saskatchewan.
1919—J. C. Mitchell, Dahinda, Sask.
1920—J. C. Mitchell, Dahinda, Sask.
1921—G. W. Craft, United States.
1922—R. Wiler, Saskatchewan.
1923—H. G. L. Strange, Alberta.
1924—J. C. Mitchell, Dahinda, Sask.
1925—L. P. Yates, United States.
1926—Herman Trelle, Wembley, Alberta.
1927—C. Ed. Smith, United States.
1928—C. Ed. Smith, United States.
1929—Jos. H. B. Smith, Alberta.
1930—Herman Trelle, Alberta.
1931—Herman Trelle, Alberta.
1932—Herman Trelle, Alberta.
1933—Frank Isaackson, Elfros, Sask.
1934—John B. Ailsop, Wembley, Alta.
1935—W. Frelan Wilford, Stavely, Alta.

The achievement of Mr. Wilford once again reminds us that Canada still stands high among the nations of the world in the quality of her products from the farm.

BIG BORROWING

GREAT BRITAIN, ACCORDING TO AN announcement made in the House of Commons to-day, recently has floated two loans amounting to about $1,458,000,000—and the people are wondering just for what the money is going to be used.

To-day, of course, was the formal opening of the new Parliament, but the King was not present because of the death of his sister, the Princess Victoria. The Associated Press, however, "assumed at least one billion would be needed to redeem bonds bearing higher rates of interest . . . but speculation centred on the remaining $500,000,000."

We are told that these transactions represent the biggest government loan operation since the famous 5 per cent war loan conversion of 1932—when the treasury succeeded in setting a new low record in interest rates. The government at that time borrowed $500,000,000 at 1 per cent and the remainder of the funds at 2½ per cent.

The Cunard-White Star Queen Mary will commence her maiden voyage next May 27. She will be able to carry 2,550 passengers as well as a crew of nearly half that number. It is reported that all the available accommodation is almost booked up. But competent authorities ask that, like the Normandie, will she be operated at a loss?

Sir Samuel Hoare, Britain's Foreign Secretary, is going to take a month's holiday in Switzerland, on the advice of his physicians, for the benefit of his health. Sir Samuel is one of Europe's most famed figure-skaters and at the age of fifty-five he is out to try to win more titles. We shall hope that as a skater he will be on solid ice all the time he is trying to add new laurels to his skating crown. But when he returns to London we also shall hope that he will be able to skate safely on the thin ice of diplomacy.

Another Saskatchewan by-election has resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate with his C.C.F. opponent losing his deposit. The contest was in the constituency of Gravelbourg between Mr. E. M. Culliton, Liberal, and Mr. F. K. Malcolm, C.C.F. This is the second by-election since the general election of last summer—and the Liberal forces remain intact. The other day in Humboldt the Liberal retained the seat, the C.C.F. candidate, as in Gravelbourg, losing his deposit.

Just Folks

DOGS AND MEN

My Dane and terrier day by day
Together dwell in a friendly way.

Side by side down the street they jog,
The mighty Dane and the smaller dog.

Day by day at the garden gate
I've watched them eat from the self-same plate.

Sprawled on the rug by the fire I keep
Dane and terrier snooze and sleep.

No hatred flames in the lives they lead,
From color of coat or differing breed.

So proud is the Dane that he never tries
To take advantage of strength or size.

And I'm sure that the terrier never mocks
The Dane for not having been a fox.

'Tis only men who these traits possess,
So dogs are different from us, I guess.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

To the Editor:—We unforunate office workers of Victoria, who, in the summertime never have a chance to get out in the sun, will have to turn out in full force December 12 and vote for daylight saving. Everyone wants it except business firms and wealthy corporations, who stand to lose a little business by it. They never think of the thousands in Victoria alone who work until 6 o'clock each summer day. They have Wednesday afternoons and Sundays, and one week in which to enjoy the sunshine and the natural beauties. At quitting time on most days employees have no time for a game of tennis or a picnic or any other outdoor pastime. That extra hour would be a great boon, so, come on, office-workers and others confined indoors for long hours, let's get out and see if we can't get that extra hour. It would be only for July and August, so "tired mothers" can't offer any objection.

"THOU SHALT NOT KILL!"

To the Editor:—From your editorial and news articles it would appear that a campaign has been launched in the Old Country by the Euthanasia (an-easy-death) Society of Great Britain, to have a law passed which would permit of the killing of incurables by medical men. This movement is all the more regrettable in that it emanates chiefly from the medical profession. The Society has taken upon itself a tremendous and uncalled-for responsibility!

It is a law which would cause the incurable patient (who hitherto and in spite of everything had been hanging on to dear life) to lose faith in the man of all men by whose skill he had hoped against hope, if not to be healed, at least to have his life a little prolonged! Henceforth he will dread the man (who being under oath "to save life" as Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern of Chicago so well expressed it recently) as the one whose ultimate motive may be that of quietly "dispatching" him!

The Euthanasia Sign among so many others, confirms the truth of God's Word which points out that we are living in the very last days of that dispensation which precedes the return of our Lord Jesus Christ, days in which, as prophesied, men shall more and more ignore God or take His laws into their own hands.

God alone can give life and it is His prerogative alone to take it as it is our privilege, whatever the circumstances, to praise Him for His wisdom! No one should see death before his God-appointed time, and those "passing through the valley" before their time, go there either as the victims of homicides or as suicides, which is in flagrant disobedience of God's solemn command: "Thou shalt not kill;" and those responsible for the deed shall have to give an account of it to God!

Suffering, as death, is the result of sin, and although eternal life is the gift of God through Jesus Christ our Lord and is available to whosoever will, the consequences of sin must be borne by mankind until those who believe in Christ as their Savior shall reach "the other shore" and death itself "be cast into the lake of fire!"—God shall not hold guiltless those who interfere with His soverign rights!

The most terrible result of wilful death is that it robs a man, in the case of an unsaved person, of the opportunity of finding salvation perhaps at the last hour of a normal and God-allotted span of life!

Let us hope that this Euthanasia or painless killing movement (fortunately opposed by a host of eminent medical, clergy, and other men) will be deafeated in the House of Lords when this Bill for "leagalized killing" is submitted to them.

The greatest source of all real wisdom was and is and always shall be found in that so-called antiquated Book, the Bible! A back-to-the-Bible movement would have a far more salutary effect in alleviating the suffering of humanity than all the humanitarian movements could ever accomplish without God!

WORTHY OF PRAISE

To the Editor:—If you will be kind enough to allow me a small space in your paper I would like to say a word of praise for Tom Obee, who for the last three years has been giving his services to entertain the boys in the relief camps, the recreation rooms and the Old Men's Home. In fact, he is always willing to give a helping hand to any good cause. Tommy Obee will work all day and then go out to Otter Point and entertain the boys for two or three hours and think nothing of it, so I think he is deserving of a little praise. So, cheerio, Tommy—more power to you!

POLICE BOARD MOTION FILED

Luney For Legislation, McGavin Wants Referendum

In words understood to be a direct challenge to Mayor Leeming on the police commission and publicity bureau grant questions, when and if the city's present chief magistrate stands for re-election at the end of 1936, Alderman Andrew McGavin injected fresh heat into discussions of the police commission issue at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

The matter arose following the reading of a motion by Alderman Walter Luney aimed to secure, through legislation, the appointment of a commission from the elected members of the council with the mayor as chairman.

The motion, tabled until next meeting after much discussion, read as follows:

"That the city solicitor be instructed to draft for submission to next year's City Council at its first meeting a petition to be presented to the provincial legislature seeking the repeal of subsection two of section 385A of the Municipal Act, which makes applicable to the city of Victoria the provisions of the said section requiring that the board of commissioners of police of Victoria consist of the mayor, the judge of the country court and the police magistrate of the municipality.

CHOSEN FROM COUNCIL

"That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare for submission to next year's City Council at its first meeting, for insertion in the city's application for a private bill for the year 1936, a draft clause providing:

"a. That the board of commissioners of police for the City of Victoria shall consist of the mayor as ex-officio chairman of the board and either four or six aldermen as may be decided by the council by by-law to be appointed by the council by ballot for a one year term at the first meeting of the council in each year.

"b. That within one month after the said clause becomes effective and the said by-law is passed by the council the number of aldermen designated by the by-law to sit on the board shall be appointed by the council by ballot to serve until the appointment of their successors at the first meeting of the council in the following year."

Speaking to his motion, Alderman Luney stated he had no quarrel with the existing commission and admitted he was not thoroughly informed on the manner in which the elective system had been abolished.

INDIRECT VOTE

He thought the plan be brought forward would give the people a chance to vote for commissioners with the assurance that at least one of every two aldermen they elected would be a commissoner.

He thought the commission should be under the jurisdiction of the council in a manner similar to the fire wardens.

His remarks were followed by the reading of communications on the matter, including one from R. T. Elliott governing the referendum question.

Alderman McGavin stated he was not prepared to finance a referendum out of his own pocket at a cost of $250, although he would like to take that course.

He again decried the action of the provincial government in relieving the citizens of the franchise at the request of the City Council.

"If the people elect the wrong men to the commission, it is up to them to take it," he declared.

ISSUE NEXT YEAR

If a referendum on the issue were not taken this year, it would be next, Alderman McGavin stated.

"I'll make it an issue and I'll bet you $5 to 5 cents it will win,' he shouted.

Why, he asked, was the mayor afraid to put it to the people?

"It's none of their business," the mayor replied.

"It will be some time," the alderman stated.

Alderman P. R. Brown suggested the motion of Alderman Luney be tabled and copies of it sent to each aldeman for his study.

Alderman Luney stated he had brought his motion before the council because the government had turned out the old elective system. They must have had a reason—"where there's smoke there's fire," he commented.

By having the commission appointed from the council, the city would have a closer insight into the commissions activities and would know where the money went, he added.

"There was no smoke," Alderman McGavin replied to Alderman Luney's remark.

"Why was it done then?" Alderman Luney asked.

"It was all built around the move by the late Alderman Williams to hold a sweepstake for the hospital. A pack of lies were told about it, and I defy anyone to prove they were not lies," Alderman McGavin said.

The matter was then temporarily shelved.

On motion of Mayor Morley it was decided at last evening's meeting of the City Council that the ratepayers should be asked at the approaching municipal elections to decide the exact status of the school board in its relation to the general affairs of the corporation and particularly as to the respective jurisdictions of the council and the former body.

CREATIVE TYPE OF SCHOOLING

Professor C. B. Wood Speaks on New Kind of Education

A new departure in schooling, the development of the creative instinct in children, was explained to members of the University Extension Society at a lecture in the Girls' Central School yesterday evening by Professor C. B. Wood of the Department of Education in the University of British Columbia.

"Doubtless it is too much to expect the schools to change the world," the professor said, "but we can at least show the way.

"We have been thinking too much of acquiring and getting, and not enough of producing and giving."

The creative instinct in mankind, he said, made for altruism and peace, while the acquisitive instinct made for greed and war.

"LOCKED STEP" SYSTEM

In explaining the development of this new schooling, Professor Wood pointed out that there were complaints against the "locked step" type of education where, in order to keep the "machine" going, it was necessary to keep groups together.

Under this system it seemed as if the subjects were more important than the children, but the most vital criticism, in the professor's opinion, was that it made the learner recipient of knowledge rather than an active recipient.

From this had sprung a group of progressives, who had held that education was fundamentally growth, and depended upon freedom and the development of the creative instinct.

Enterprising teachers had taken up the idea and had tried to apply it in their work, Professor Wood said.

The universal interest of an adult in a child was due in a great part to the little fellow's unique and fresh outlook on life. However, with constant correction, the child soon felt he could not trust himself and his early imaginativeness or creative insinct disappeared. Conventionality very quickly supplanted spontaneity

LEARNING TO SPEAK

In learning to speak the infant first played with sounds. Then he linked vocalization up with detached ideas, and slowly developed meanings and finally the more complicated construction of ideas.

Under the old syatem of schooling the child learned to respect ready made ideas and did not try to create its own. The creative child clothed his own ideas in words.

"It must be realized that children do not create anything out of nothing," the professor said. "Creativeness needs environment and active understanding."

One of the enemies of creativeness was verbalism, or the traffic in words detached from reality. That did not mean that they wished to stop teaching languages, for without language thought was impossible, but ideas could often outrun words.

"The teacher of the future must be sensitive to the inarticulate thoughts of a child," Professor Wood said.

PSYCHOLOGICAL EXPLANATION

The lecturer then turned to the psychologists to explain creative thought. Professor Dewey, he said, had analyzed thinking as problem work whose solution was due to associations with the mind as a judge. Professor Spearman had noted the ability to think in a related manner.

Relaxation was important in creative work, the professor said. There was a great need for the removal of the "high pressure" that existed in schools, and there should be time for musing and deliberation.

"The time table is worked out with reference to the divisions on the face of the clock and not to the requirements of the human mind," Professor Wood said.

J. L. Watson, president of the association, was in the chair.

ISLAND HIT, M'KELVIE SAYS

Provincial Government Blocked National Park on West Coast, He Asserts

Until Victoria and Island people awake and develop some unity of spirit they will continue to be discriminated against and bled for the rest of the Province, B. A. McKelvie, editor of The Daily Colonist, said in his address to the members of the Victoria branch of the Overseas Club at their regular monthly meeting under Dr. A. G. Price.

"The life of the lumber industry on this island is limited and while the government has collected tens of millions of dollars revenue, none of it has been used to create new activities to take the place of those destroyed," Mr. McKelvie said.

Mr. McKelvie said that when the Dominion Government decided to have a national park on tide-water on this Coast, it asked for fifty square miles on the west coast of this island. But the provincial government told the Dominion it should go to the mainland to establish its national park.

Although this island had been a chief contributor of provincial revenue since the early days, the provincial government had spent $29,000,000 of the total of $31,000,000 devoted to land reclamation schemes on the mainland, he declared.

Mr. McKelvie criticized provincial legislators for the way in which island oysters were treated. Among other matters in which the island was discriminated against he listed those of airplane base, park restoration, watershed lease, development of Strathcona Park and Forbidden Plateau, road extension to Port Renfrew, Elk Falls and other scenic attractions.

The reason for this discrimination against the island, Mr. McKelvie went on, was to be found in the fact that political power centred on the mainland with its thirty-eight members against the island's ten. He also pointed out that campaign funds controlled the politicians and the administration.

"These campaign funds are raised in the main on the mainland and the mainland campaigner has never been known to go out of his way to help this island," Mr. McKelvie said.

He quoted engineering figures to show that under the provincial department only thirty cents of dollar value was given for the money appropriated for the roads on this island.

FINED $50 FOR DEATH OF DOG

William Barnes Convicted in Esquimalt Court of Mistreating Animal

Under a prosecution laid by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, William Barnes was fined $50, with an option of ten days' imprisonment, when he was convicted in the Esquimalt Police Court yesterday on a charge of ill-treating a dog at Work Point Barracks.

Prosecution evidence showed the accused had placed the dog in an ash receptacle during a football game on the grounds after the animal had been annoying the players.

John Walker, 622 Pine Street, testified he had removed the dog from the can unconscious. It was taken to Work Point Barracks by Mrs. Walter White, where Sergt. Newland Phillips administered chloroform after examination.

Inspector George Allen of the S.P.C.A. testified he had heard of the act which had aroused indignation among Esquimalt residents, and had proceeded with the prosecution.

In his own defence the accused stated he had merely intended to put the dog out of the way for ten minutes until the end of the game. He had not known the can contained ashes at the time, he said.

He said he had befriended the dog on several occasions.

VICTORIA COLLEGE NOTES

The new men's common room was officially opened last week as George F. Gregory, president of the Students' Council, delivered the opening address. Appreciation of this concession to the men students was shown by the large number of students present at this gathering. Formerly, only the women students possessed a common room, but it was found necessary to grant a lobby for the men. Mme. Sanderson represented the faculty.

A third discussion on war was held on Tuesday afternoon by members of the Students' Christian Movement, with the president, Ernie Bishop, in the chair. Concluding his previous addresses to this body on the subject of "War," Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A., led a discussion on the "Remedies for War." Among other needs, he stressed the necessity of good education, a just personal and Christian attitude toward other nations of the world, and the need of more faith and international co-operation than distrust and hate.

At the home of Professor E. S. Farr on Wednesday evening, the International Relations Society held its final meeting for the pre-Christmas semester. The meeting commenced as those present heard Professor Farr deliver an address over station CFCT on "The League of Nations and Public Opinion." Following this, Mme. Sanderson gave an interesting account of "France and their Troubles," listing corruption in public affairs, instability of the French ministers, the centralization of the government, the great number of opposing political cliques, and the excitable French temperament as the outstanding troubles of France to-day. A discussion in which all members participated followed, and the meeting adjourned after refreshments had been enjoyed.

On Friday at noon the men's discussion club held a meeting, with John MacCabe acting as chairman. The preliminary debate, "Resolved: that the students of Victoria College should be treated as men," was won by Howard Denton on the affirmative, and George Whittaker on the negative. The second debate, "Resolved: that the election of Jerry McGeer was in the best interests of Canada," Paul Smith, affirmative, won against George Whittaker, negative.

A meeting of the committee of St. Matthew's Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Stuart Yates on Wednesday, December 4, at 8 o'clock.

A request from the Victoria West Brotherhood seeking relief from the rental charge now levied against that body for the use of the bowling green section of Victoria West Park was referred by the City Council to the parks committee yesterday evening.

OPEN HOUSE TO BE HELD

Experts to Explain Baking Processes to Public; Automatic Machinery Is Interesting

To-morrow, the general public of Victoria is cordially invited to attend the opening of Small's new bakery, one of the finest and most moderaly equipped in Canada.

This splendidly equipped new plant will be open for inspection by the public between the hours of 1.30 o'clock and 5 o'clock, and, in the evening, from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock.

The new central baking plant is located on the south side of Discovery Street, between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

Fascinating new automatic machinery, the latest equipment in the market, will prove of especial interest to visitors. Experts will be on hand to explain the various processes through which flour, sugar, shortening and the various other ingredients pass before becoming the finished article ready for consumption. Samples of the well-known Small products will, of course, be offered the guests.

Discussing the completion of the fine new plant, Mr. James Small, proprietor, said to-day: "My idea was to build something entirely up-to-date in every respect—something absolutely modern, both as regards speed and efficiency in turning out wholesome and delicious products, and as regards absolute cleanliness and purity. Now that the plant is completed we're extending a most cordial invitation to the public to come here and see for themselves precisely under what conditions of modernness and cleanliness Small's bread and cakes are made."

Very commodious, and spotlessly clean, the new plant is capable of a maximum production of 8,000 loaves of bread a day.

Twenty-two employees work in four shifts throughout the day and night. During only one hour of the twenty-four is the machinery of production closed down.

Everywhere, the emphasis has been placed on purity and on sanitary conditions. In the ingenious new flour-mixing machines — electrically operated and entirely automatic—are sifters through which, Mr. Small explained, even a hair would be detected. These machines are of the latest design. So new are they that only two or three bakeries in the country are equipped with them.

Bins, pans, all utensils, and finally the finished product itself, are guarded carefully from possible dust or contamination. No expense has been spared to achieve completely sanitary conditions and to ensure that all ingredients used are absolutely pure. In the fine big new ovens, for example, steam pressure is used to cleanse baking compartments after each batch has been cooked. Controlled ventilation protects both the comestible and the employee throughout the plant. Even the boilers supplying steam to the plant are automatically controlled. In the rest-room is a shower-bath for employees.

Small's Bakery products have been known here for fifteen years. Thanks, Mr. Small explained, to the emphasis on quality, the business has been expanded steadily and now retails products through three different Small's Bakery branches, at 754 Yates Street, 1513 Douglas Street and 645 Fort Street, as well as to stores everywhere in the city and district.

The production end of the business is under the direct supervision of John A. Small, son of the proprietor, who is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, trained in the latest methods of bakery management.

A new product just now being introduced to the Victoria market is Small's School Lunch Loaf. This, Mr. Small said, contained 800 per cent more calcium, necessary for proper bone formation, than ordinary bread. The texture of this new loaf makes it easy to cut and ideal for sandwiches.

Reiterating his invitation to the public to attend the opening of the new plant, Mr. Small senior said, "I want as many Victorians as possible to see under what modern conditions of efficiency and purity Small's Bakery products are made."

APPRAISAL BILL IS PAID

City Council Learns Charge For Survey of Buildings Reasonable

After some discussion the City Council yesterday evening authorized payment of a bill for $1,340.10 to Luney Bros. Ltd. and Parfitt Bros. Ltd. for the appraisal of all city buildings for insurance purposes.

The appraisal was ordered in July and the payment of the bill was deferred until the council was assured it was a legitimate charge. Alderman Walter Luney retired from the council ranks while the debate proceeded. Eventually the entire council was satisfied the fee was reasonable.

Alderman McGavin raised a question over payment of the bill.

"How did you decide on who should do the work?" he asked the mayor.

"I don't know," the mayor replied.

Alderman McGavin stated there were other contractors who would have liked the job. Was it just handed over to Luney Bros. Ltd. and Parfitt Bros. Ltd.? he asked.

Alderman John Worthington stated the two firms had done good work for the school board and the city had expected the same treatment. The usual rate for appraisals was 5 per cent of the actual value of the buildings, he said. In this case the charge was only one-sixth of 1 per cent.

WANTED BIDS

Alderman McGavin suggested payment of the bill be laid over, but received no seconder. He believed the city should have called for bids on the work, he said.

There were 114 parcels included in the report covering all buildings, he was informed. Three men from one firm and one from another had worked steadily for two months to make out the report.

The payment was authorized and Alderman McGavin withdrew his amendment following that explanation.

On the recommendation of the finance committee, which brought in the appraisal report, the council also authorized the following exchange of sinking fund investments through C. S. Henley and Co. Ltd.:

"For $50,000 P.G.E. Railway 4½ per cent bonds due 1942 at 96.50 and accrued interest, now held by the city, to accept $50,000 City of Victoria 4½ per cent bonds due May 1, 1943, at 94.50 and accrued interest yielding 5.40."

The City Council yesterday evening authorized the purchase of nine police overcoats and three pea jackets for members of the force from Robert Rankin at a cost of $348.30.

Social And Club Interests

The Golden Feather

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

Sandy came up beside her and pulled his horse to a halt. Then suddenly he leaned over, slipped his arm about her shoulders, and kissed her on the mouth.

CHAPTER VII

When she got home that evening Jean discovered that her conscience was rather disturbed about that kiss.

"What sort of girl do you call yourself, anyway?" asked Conscience, indignantly. "The very first time you've been out with a man, too! And you've always prided yourself on the fact that you didn't like to be mauled and petted!"

"But that wasn't mauling and petting," answered Jean. "It was—it was just one little kiss. And anyhow, it happened before I knew it was coming."

"Oh, yeah?" said Conscience. I've heard that before."

"Well, it did, insisted Jean. "And what's the harm? It didn't mean anything. And he—he didn't even try to do it again, or—"

"Well, I must say, that's a very weak sort of defence," Conscience replied. "It wasn't your fault he didn't try to do it again."

"It was, so! I drew away and I told him—"

"Oh, you told him! Since when did that mean anything? And besides, what would Bobby say?"

"Well, Bobby just isn't going to know. And it isn't going to happen again, so what's the use of making all this fuss over it?"

That wasn't the most satisfactory reply imaginable, perhaps, but it would have to do. And the feeling of guilt that stayed in the back of Jean's mind made her especially nice to Bobby when he called for her, after dinner, to take her to a movie; and when he told her good night, later, she let him kiss her three times to make up for it, so that that young man went home both pleased and puzzled.

Sandy called her up Sunday morning and suggested another ride. She put him off on the ground that she had another engagement. He called her up Sunday evening, apparently for no reason except that he wanted to tell her that she was tops. He called her at the office Monday morning and asked if she could have lunch with him; and when she said that she could not he begged her to dine with him that evening.

"Sandy, I can't," she said. "I'm—I'm all tied up this week."

"Yeah?" said Sandy cheerfully. "Baby, you aren't fooling me a-tall. You better get yourself untied pretty quick, or I'll come up there and pull you out by that pretty yellow hair of yours. I'm not foolin', sister. You're the nicest thing I've seen in all my travels, and I'm going to see plenty more of you. Puhlenty!"

Conscience bestirred itself for one final jab, after he had hung up.

"You see?" it inquired caustically. "You see what comes of that one harmless little kiss?"

When she got home that night, Jean found a huge box of roses waiting for her. And the next noon, when she went out for lunch, she stepped from the elevator into the lobby of the office building and found Sandy lounging there, waiting for her.

He grinned broadly, stepped up confidently, tucked her arm into his, and said, "Now where's a good place to eat, anyhow? I bet you're hungry."

Helplessly, laughing, she suffered herself to be led along. He took her to a restaurant where she never lunched—it was too expensive for the budget of a girl who was earning her own living—and got a table in a sheltered corner, behind a clump of palms.

When they had ordered he looked at her with mock sternness.

"Now," he said, "suppose you tell me why you're ducking me so hard!"

"I'm not ducking you," she protested.

"Yes, you are. What's the big idea? Don't I wear the right kind of necktie, or have I got spots on my vest, or do I need a haircut or something? Why can't I ever have another date with you?"

"I didn't say you never could. My goodness, you're rushing things aren't you?"

"Why not? I don't believe in being backward, when the prettiest girl in the whole state is floating around loose right under my nose.'

"Well, but—" she hesitated. "You see, Sandy, I'm not really floating around loose. I'm—I'm really engaged." And she was furious with herself when she found herself adding the words, "practically, anyhow."

Sandy cocked a humorous eye at her.

"Practically engaged, eh? Good Lord, baby, go ahead and be engaged I'm not going to eat you up. I just want to pal around with you. No harm in that, is there?"

"No-o-o." The waiter set food before them, and she became very busy with her club sandwich. "But—oh, you know how it is."

"Boy friend might get sore?" Sandy grinned. "I'm harmless as a baby. I—listen—if you don't mind my asking—is he the lad you were with in the Golden Feather the other night?"

Jean nodded.

"Why, he's a nice kid," said Sandy. "When you going to get married?"

"Well, not right away," said Jean helplessly. "I mean, you see he's just getting started, and—"

"What's he do?"

"He's an auto salesman."

"Whos he with?"

"He's with the—oh Sandy, what's the use of questioning me like this? I've gone with him ever since I was in high school. I just don't think I—I ought to have dates, that's all."

"Aw, these aren't regular dates I'm asking for. I just want to see you sometimes. No harm in that."

But Jean remained adamant, and when the lunch was finished and Sandy had escorted her back to her office and gone away, she told her conscience savagely, "Now—I do hope you're satisfied!"

That night she went out to dinner with Bobby. But whereas Conscience, on their last date, had caused her to be especially nice to him, it all seemed to work with reverse English this time, and she found herself being irritable and disagreeable.

As they were finishing their dessert, Bobby looked at her anxiously.

"What's the matter to-night, honey?" he asked. "Aren't you feeling well?"

"Im all right, she said. "Just—just a little tired, or something, I guess.'

He looked at her fondly.

"You're working too hard," he announced. "Honey, when you going to quit that old office and let me take care of you? That's what you need."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1935

According to astrology this is a fairly fortunate day. It is primarily a time to push all important affairs.

In the morning hours, whatever is constructive or progressive is well directed. It is a time for preparing for new year enterprises and fortunate for starting new corporations.

Again new fortunes are prognosticated, despite all share-the-wealth movements. Chemistry is to mean immense wealth to certain capitalists.

Inventions of many kinds will add to the world's comfort and will be of supreme importance in the progress of civilization. Television will eventually become an everyday convenience.

There is a sign read as presaging a better understanding of world affairs and an uncovering of plans and purposes long hidden.

The seers declare that those who wield power in molding human destiny will be sensitive to world thought and varying moods of depression and exaltation.

While fears assail the multitudes there will be alternating confidence and anxiety among persons who carry heavy national or international responsibility, it is forecast.

Workers to-day are subject to a rather good planetary influence, but deceit and double-dealing are foreshadowed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of hard work that should result satisfactorily. Young folk will be especially fortunate.

Children born on this day probably will be intellectual and scholarly. Subjects of this sign usually are energetic and industrious.

Thomas Carlyle, English writer, was born on this day, 1795. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lillian Russell, singer, 1861, and Albert Tobins Clay, archaeologist, 1866.

Radialities

Radio to-day is making its swiftest advance in the two great English-speaking democracies. The United States and England have the greatest number of radio sets per capita of any nations in the world, according to figures compiled by the United States Commerce Department.

American listeners own approximately one half the world's total radio receivers. In the entire world there are estimated to be about 56,000,000 sets. Some 25,500,000 of these are in the United States. The next largest number is to be found on the islands of Great Britain and Ireland. The British Broadcasting Corporation makes itself heard through 7,000,000 English and Irish loudspeakers.

In both the United States and Great Britain the ratio of radios to population is exceptionally high. There is one radio to every five persons in America, and one to every six and one-half persons in Britain.

An exchange of news commentaries with Paris similar to the current CBS series between London and New York has been arranged by the Columbia Broadcasting System, and started on Wednesday, November 27. The two commentators for these transatlantic programmes are Prof. Jacques Bardoux, who will speak in English from Paris, and Prof. John B. Whitton, who speaks French and English from New York.

Professor Bardoux, who will begin his broadcasts on Thursday, December 5, from 1.15 to 1.30 p.m., P.S.T., and continue them at the same time every two weeks thereafter, is a member of the French Institute, professor of the School of Political Sciences and contributor to the Revue des Deux Mondes.

Prof. Whitton will not be heard on this continent.

Telegrams from celebrated stars of radio, stage and screen are pouring in on Jack Benny, extending congratulations on his 200th coast-to-coast broadcast, which will take place on December 1. Many of these wires, especially those from leading comedians, will be included in a special anniversary routine on this programme.

Harry Conn also will be honored on this occasion, which will mark the 200th script he has written for Benny. December 1 will be Harry's forty-third birthday. He is the highest-paid author in radio.

Myrt and Marge, rabbit's foot in pocket and fingers crossed, enacted their thirteen hundred and thirteenth broadcast of their backstage serial on Wednesday, November 13.

A contest for amateur song writers of popular tunes is announced by the sponsors of NBC's Fibber McGee and Molly programme, in co-operation with Uiderico Marchelli, conductor of the Fibber McGee orchestra and a well-known music publisher.

The programme is broadcast each Monday at 5 p.m., P.S.T., over an NBC network.

DUCHESS OF KENT'S FIRST OUTING

The Truth About Diet

This is the first of a series of articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein exposing the fallacies of various food fads.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

One of the earliest American dietetic fads was the system known as Fletcherization. It was developed by Horace Fletcher early in the nineteenth century.

Fletcher believed that the way to secure health from food was to chew the food until it developed into a liquid consistency. To bring this about, an actual ritual of chewing was developed and whole families could be seen seated at breakfast in the morning carefully counting each movement of the jaws to make certain that the number agreed with what Fletcher thought was correct.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Obviously, there was no scientific basis for any such performance and Fletcherization soon passed into the limbo of forgotten dietetic fallacies.

About the same time, vegetarianism began to develop as a cult, although of course from the very earliest times there had been many human beings who had insisted that the eating of flesh was harmful and that human beings ought to abstain from meat.

It is interesting to recall that practically every religious belief has associated with it certain notions relating to the eating of food. Thus one religion will avoid meat on certain days of the week, another will avoid entirely the meat of pigs, and the Hindus will abstain from the meat of the Sacred Cow.

Such avoidance of meat, of course, is entirely without scientific foundation. The human stomach knows nothing of religion, or belief, and will try to digest any food that is put into it any time that the food comes down.

Sometimes the adoption of vegetarianism is simply a desire on the part of the person concerned to be different from everybody else, and in that way to acquire a feeling of superiority. On the other hand, there are those who attack the eating of meat because they claim it is full of germs, that it is not properly cleaned, and that it is dangerous to health. They say the end result of its digestion is a lot of poisonous products.

Actually, meat nowadays is carefully inspected by government authorities. It is thoroughly cooked before use, thus destroying dangerous germs in the vast majority of cases, and when digested yields products which are for the most part useful in the human body.

Moreover, it has been found that certain types of meat have special values for health and ought to be eaten at fairly regular intervals as valuable builders for the body.

TO-DAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Is there any drug or combination of drugs which, taken by mouth, would decrease the appetite without harming the health?

A.—Probably not. The appetite however, may be decreased by taking a small amount of sweet food before eating, by chewing gum, by smoking a cigarette, or in any other way diminishing the sense of hunger.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DISTENDED STOMACH IS ONE SIGN OF UNDERFEEDING

It is always pitiful when one is blind to the real causes of undernourishment and quite often interprets them in exactly the opposite way. The following letter disturbed me greatly. I wish "A Reader," the author of it, would please send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and let me send her some helpful literature on "Diet From Eight to Twelve Years." She failed to enclose even an address, which makes me helpless to aid her except in this way.

She writes: "I am taking care of an eight-year-old girl. She weighs forty-five pounds. She has a large stomach which sticks way out. I think she eats too much as she can eat eight and ten slices of bread with a cup of cocoa or milk, and can eat two cups of baked beans for a meal with two slices of bread and then waits for dessert.

ALWAYS HUNGRY

"She is a small child and does not not look well. I tried to cut down on her food but she is always hungry. She is not my child but I am taking care of her, and as I only get $2 a week for her board I cannot afford to take her to a doctor.

"She seems to be a nervous child and always in mischief. I love the child and wish she would show some color in her face and act more lively. I wonder she doesn't gain when she eats so much? Sometimes she can hardly walk."

NEED MILK, EGGS

A large protruding stomach when the child seems to be underweight is as truly an evidence of undernourishment as if the child were thin all over. The enormous amount of starchy food she consumes may fill her up, but it is obviously not the nourishment she needs and so she is thin, and still hungry even while eating ravenously.

The leaflet mentioned above will give you the diet in detail but sketchily she would have one quart of milk a day, some meat, eggs, fish, cheese or poultry every day, two kinds of vegetables, starchy ones such as beans, peas, corn, beets, squash, turnips, etc., and lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes, broccoli or other vegetables of that type.

GIVE HER WHOLE GRAIN CEREALS

Give her whole grain cereals (whole wheat, oats, barley) and whole grain breads, to improve her mineral balance. Use cooked and fresh fruits for dessert.

Give her, also, two teaspoons of plain cod liver oil a day. If you live in the city look up free clinics, as this child needs a physician to determine the extent of her malnutrition and whether it alone is causing her inability to walk. Two dollars is a sufficient allowance for the food for one member of a family, provided you are not trying to feed the whole family what should be used for this child alone.

Associated Press

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—A campaign to obtain 50,000,000 signatures in all nations that signed the Briand-Kellogg peace pact, to a petition advocating the eventual abandonment of all arms, was started to-day by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Miss Sarah Dupont, cousin of Pierre Du Pont, munitions manufacturer, who sold her holdings in the Du Pont company and became a peace advocate, was among those present at to-day's meeting.

The petition, league officials said, would be presented to the League of Nations at Geneva in the spring.

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 3.—Pretending to be in dire poverty and living in a drab cottage that had neither electricity, gas nor other improvements Mrs. Ellen J. Ackerman, who died last November 20, left a hoarded fortune of $200,000, it was disclosed to-day.

In the house of the eighty-eight-year-old recluse, who gave the impression she was near the stage of privation so simply did she live, was found evidence of her lifetime's hoarding.

Canadian Daughters—The business meeting of Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when initiation will take place.

AGED WRITER REJUVENATED

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—Sprightly, golden-haired Gertrude Atherton, seventy-eight-year-old author of "Black Oxen," a story of a woman who regained her youth, thinks it is high time eminent subjects speak of their rejuvenating operations.

At first, she said, she considered her own case "nobody's business."

"But I tell it now," she said to-day. "Why not? Unfortunately there has been a false emphasis on the physical aspects in most minds."

Fatigued businessmen, actresses and professional women whose careers demand sustained energy are the most numerous benefitters, she said, of "reactivation" operations for men and X-ray treatments for women. Sometimes, she said, patients are under forty.

Mrs. Atherton underwent treatment twice. At seventy-eight, she moves rapidly and decisively, speaks firmly, and says she feels "as vigorous as ever," in her writing.

To Hold Installation—Daughters of St. George, Princess Patricia 238, will hold their regular business meeting on Friday, at 7.30 o'clock, in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street. A public installation will take place at 9 o'clock. Members are asked to bring refreshments.

Moscow, Russia, is to have a library to house 1,000,000 books as a memorial to Maxim Gorky.

PAPERS GIVEN ON ALCOHOL EVIL

The Rockland Park W.C.T.U. met at the home of Mrs. C. Pettigrew, Pandora Avenue, yesterday. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Twamley and Miss Agnes Sproule. Much interest and encouragement was shown when Mrs. J. P. Hicks reported on the "Sunday School Temperance Contest." Very fine papers have been sent in, showing great interest taken by the scholars. Mrs. W. Laing reported on the W.C.T.U. essay contest, papers to be sent in by December 10, to Mrs. Wilkinson, 1211 Hampshire Road. The treasurer, Mrs. Moody, was asked to send in the cheque towards prize fund.

In the educational programme, readings were given by Mrs. J. P Hicks, "The First Slip"; "Drink and Driving" was the subject of a reading by Mrs. F. W. Laing; the efficiency of anyone driving a car would be seriously affected by drinking even a small quantity of alcohol, as it gives false confidence and the body works less efficiently, she claimed. Mrs. Pettigrew spoke on "Russia's Test," in which a man is given a clear liquid to breathe on. If he has been drinking alcohol, the liquid turns grey; if he is sober, the liquid turns pale red, according to the speaker.

The president, Mrs. John Hall, invited the members to meet at her home in January. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Twamley, a much esteemed member, celebrated her silver wedding anniversary recently at her home, Cedar Hill Road, when Mrs. F. W. Laing, on behalf of the members, presented her with a silver basket filled with carnations, and an address wishing her health and continued happiness.

U.S. League Urges Information Be Given to Families on Relief

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 3.—The first public meeting of the American Birth Control League here in seven years was on record to-day with a recommendation that birth control information be provided for mothers of families on relief.

The audience heard Canon H. Adyce Prichard of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and other speakers endorse birth control.

"I can find nothing in religion contradictory to birth control," he said.

Canon Prichard added, however, "I stand here as a minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church, but my church won't back me up—very strongly."

Mrs. Thomas Hepburn, mother of the film star, Katharine Hepburn, appealed for early marriage and birth control knowledge for married couples as the way to bring about "a morality based on intelligence and ideals, not on fear."

A resolution, embodying the league's recommendation and presented by Charles H. Strong, secretary of the New York City Bar Association, asserted that 250,000 children were born annually to mothers on relief.

MDIVANI MAY WED U.S. GIRL

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 3.—The name of Prince Serge Mdivani was back in American society columns again today—this time linked with reports he will marry Louise Astor Van Alen, former wife of his brother, Prince Alexis.

The New York Daily News asserted the engagement of Prince Serge and Miss Van Allen was disclosed by intimate friends of the Van Alen family in Newport, R.I.

A formal announcement will not be forthcoming from the Van Alen family, The News said, adding that the tragic death of Alexis in an auto accident abroad may explain the hesitancy.

Prince Serge formerly was the husband of Pola Negri and of Mary McCormic, and the paper reported society of New York and Newport was "flabbergasted" by the word that he is now wooing his former sister-in-law.

Langford Legion W.A. Review Busy Year

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Prince Edward branch No. 91 Canadian Legion was held in the clubrooms yesterday. The meeting opened with the usual two minutes' silence in remembrance. Mrs. A. G. Mackie was in the chair.

The report for the year showed that some very good welfare work had been done by the W.A., apart from a substantial payment on the new roof and new heater. The financial statement showed a satisfactory balance, and three other needy cases will be assisted immediately.

Mrs. A. G. Mackie, president of the W.A., in her yearly report noted that 1935 had been a difficult year. She paid tribute to the secretary and social convener, Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman, for her hard work on behalf of the legion, and also to the members who had co-operated to make this year a successful one.

Election of officers for 1936 was as follows, Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle vice-president of the parent body, taking the chair; President, Mrs. A. G. Mackie; first vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Hincks; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman; executive, Mrs. F. Smedley and Mrs. J. Macdonald; sick visitor, Mrs. F. H. Staneman; janitor, Mrs. J. S. Robertson; social convener, Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman; assistant convener, Mrs. W. Moore.

Mr. Acheson-Lyle thanked the W.A. on behalf of the parent branch, for their support and co-operation during the year, and he hoped for a successful and happy year in 1936. Mrs. Mackie served tea at the end of the meeting. A card party will be held Saturday evening in the clubrooms at 8 o'clock.

St. Andrew's Guild—The Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the church, the president, Mrs. John Cochrane, in the chair. After the devotions, the treasurer's report was read and the annual silver tea, held recently, was pronounced a great success. The president read a letter from Miss Mead, of North Pine, thanking the members for the generous gifts of money and clothing for the settlers in the Peace River district. The nominating committee for the annual meeting was appointed as follows: Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. George Sanson and Mrs. J. R. Pearce. Tea was served after the meeting, the hostesses being Mesdames E. H. Griffiths, E. A. Robinson and Mrs. William Head, and the thanks of the guild was expressed to the hostesses by the president.

BRIDES-TO-BE GO TO SCHOOL

New York Society Girls Learn Home Management

New York, Dec. 3.—Society's dancing daughters are flocking to the Brides' School to learn the intricacies of housekeeping—in case they marry.

The school, sponsored by society women, charges tuition fees. Its five stories contain rooms designed to be typical of those in which the modern young miss will live as bride and matron. Its purpose is to instruct prospective brides to run their households efficiently and economically.

The direction of servants is an important part of the curriculum. Meals, formal and informal, are traced from their source—at the grocer's—to the kitchen, thence through the mysteries of cookery to the table. Real silver is used. The rugs are genuine.

Cocktails—as a word, that is—are out. "Please don't say 'cocktails,'" said Mrs. Richard Boardman, president of Scientific Housekeeping, Inc., of which the Brides' School is an offshoot. "It gives a wrong impression."

Scientific Housekeeping, in existence ten years, was launched by a group of society women for the purpose of training servants. After ten years, Mrs. Boardman said, it was found that the servant level had been raised, but that the inexperienced housekeeper was still a barrier to an efficiently run home. The Brides' School was the result.

The school eschews words like "domestic," substituting "worker." A chambermaid is now a "worker on daily care."

MOVIE GROUP AT CALLENDER

Snowstorm Greets Party Who Will Make Dionne Film

Canadian Press

Callander, Ont., Dec. 3.—The swirling northern Ontario snowstorm that greeted a company of Hollywood movie makers as they stepped off the train here to-day to take pictures of Callander's famous quintuplets was hailed with enthusiasm.

Presence of the snow indicated the makers of the film feature "The Country Doctor," would probably make some outdoor scenes here as well as their interior shots of the famous little Dionne sisters.

Jean Hersholt, who will take the title role in the picture based on the life of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, was eager to meet the genial country practitioner, who brought the quintuplets into the world. He will portray Dr Dafoe in the picture, which was originally intended as a vehicle for the late Will Rogers. Accompanying Hersholt was Miss Dorothy Petersen, who will play nurse to the quintuplets in the picture, and twenty-two technicians. Henry King is director.

MAINTAINS B.C. CO-EDS BEST

Toronto Debater Gives Reasons For Describing Them as Prettiest

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Sydney Hermant, who represented the University of Toronto in debates in western Canada and who told the British Columbia university co-eds they were the prettiest he had ever seen, was even more definite in his opinions on return here.

"University of Toronto co-eds are like hothouse flowers that wilt quickly—very beautiful but not very substantial," he said. "The University of British Columbia co-eds are more handsome, healthy, efficient and self-reliant in appearance than those at the University of Toronto, mainly because of a lesser indulgence in synthetic pleasure."

Condemned Woman Was Interviewed

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Provincial Secretary H. C. Nixon to-day ordered an inquiry into the circumstances of an interview a Detroit newspaperwoman had in Woodstock jail with Mrs. Elizabeth Tilford, condemned to hang December 17 for the poison murder of her husband, Tyrrell Tilford. It was understood the newspaperwoman was Dorothy Williams.

Mr. Nixon said it "is certainly against our policy to allow interviews with condemned persons."

GIRL TIRED OF CONVENT LIFE

U.S. Society Girl Leaves Quebec Convent After Two Years' Novitiate

Canadian Press

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Dec. 3.—"Tired and unwell," Natalie Carr, wealthy Connecticut heiress, has left the seclusion she sought two years ago in the convent of the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary.

At the walled and tree-sheltered institution it was revealed the attractive young novice had left for home in Clinton. But the time she left and her immediate destination were kept just as secret as details of her strange arrival two years ago when police through eastern United States and Canada were endeavoring to solve her sudden disappearance.

Other sources said she left last Thursday and planned to visit an aunt at Longueil, a little village on the south shore of St. Lawrence River, not far from Montreal. The name of the relative was not known.

Customary secrecy enveloped the girl's stay at the convent, but it was disclosed Miss Carr made no plans to return to her secluded home of the last two years. She was free to leave anytime during her five-year probation period. A sister said after conferring with the mother superior

Montreal, Dec. 3.—Natalie Carr, beautiful twenty-one-year-old heiress who startled society in her native Clinton, Conn., two years ago by joining as a novice at the convent of the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary at St. Hyancinthe, Que., has returned home, it was reported to-day. She had three more years to serve before taking final vows.

The girl, whose disappearance in the summer of 1933 caused an international police search, was taken from the convent last Thursday to New York State, W. G. Birkett, Montreal, a family friend, said to-day.

Miss Carr was located six months after her disappearance in the St. Hyacinthe convent, studying as a novice. She was believed to have received her mother's consent to take the veil.

A non-catholic, she was received into the Roman Catholic Church and baptized by Bishop Decelles of St. Hyacinthe, in the summer of 1933. She returned home and a few weeks later, on June 13, disappeared. She was located in the convent in February, 1934.

Miss Carr studied for some time at Vassar College after attending the St. Hyacinthe convent eight years.

The association also decided to hold a series of evening "services of witness" during Prayer Week, from January 6 to 11. At these gatherings various speakers will give testimony of the Christian faith in relation to present-day issues.

The speaker yesterday was Rev. E. D. Braden of Ryerson United Church, Vancouver, who gave an inspirational talk in place of the address scheduled to have been given by Rev. E. F. Church.

To complete the quota of the association's minute books, dating back to 1896, a special committee was named, including: Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, chairman, and Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, secretary.

The following ministers were introduced: Rev. Edwin Bracher, new pastor of Grace Lutheran Church; Rev. J. M. Niven, retired Presbyterian minister of Manitoba; Rev. Dr. T. J. McCrossan of Seattle, and Rev. N. A. Harkness of Vancouver.

The meeting passed a standing vote of sympathy with the family of the late Rev. Dr. E. D. McLaren in its recent bereavement.

MAYFAIR BABIES IN MOTOR PRAMS

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 3.—Motorized prams or baby carriages, semi-streamlined, with nursemaid walking with her hand on a throttle instead of pushing as of old, have become the rage in London's fashionable West End.

Colors also are yielding to modern influences and babies of the rich ride in green, tan, or yellow vehicles, with the nurse, in some cases, attired to match.

One London manufacturer has reportedly built a de luxe pram, costing $350, for a Hollywood film star's baby.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

HERE ARE THE CANDIDATES

The cans were unlabeled. Voting was by number. No woman knew which Cleanser she was voting for.

HERE IS THE WINNER!!!

The ballots were counted, a certain "number" announced as the winning Cleanser. Classic was the Cleanser which bore that winning number!

CLASSIC WINS!

Chosen for merit by majority of local housewives in contest with other leading cleansers!!

● There was one issue before the hundreds of Vancouver and Victoria women who voted in the "Hidden Name" test: "Which Cleanser can be depended on to do the best house-cleaning job—based on a full week's test in your home?"

And when the votes were counted, Classic had won against the two other best-known Cleansers. Won on sheer performance—just as it has in other cities across the Continent!

Think what this "Hidden Name" verdict means to you.

It means you can now buy Cleanser without guessing. Without being puzzled by conflicting claims. Classic Cleanser is best, local women have proved, because it cleans easier—works faster—won't scratch.

Put Classic to your own test. Any test. In kitchen, bathroom, basement, all over the house. Try it—job for job—against the Cleanser you've been using. See if Classic isn't an all-round best. And it costs less.

A GREAT WEEK! A GOOD STORY!

LAST March, the Natural Living League tried to rent the Y.M.C.A. auditorium in Springfield, Mass., for my lectures. At first successful, they later were refused it lest connection with me might reflect unfavorably upon the "Y". But Mr. Hoover, "Y" Secretary, wrote to Mr. Hopkins, "Y" Secretary in Toronto, re Doctor Jackson and his answer was such that Mr. Hoover came to my Springfield lectures and was so impressed that he told the above facts to my audience. A few weeks later he wrote to inquire if I would be their sole lecturer during "Health Week" in Springfield six months later, and as I write I am concluding those lectures. I have lectured each night in one of the Y's, to the Y's Men's, High Y's, Kiwanis, Exchange and Rotary Clubs and my Exchange address was broadcast over local Columbia connection. I've addressed three College groups, one Junior High and one High School, truly a great week.

The thing that impressed Mr. Hoover most was my own "marvelous vigor and youthfulness at 77" together with the "astounding results" of a personal use of Roman Meal and Kofy-Sub. Of course, he has studied my book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL" and carried out my regime since, and at 60 he is also becoming a boy again. But without Roman Meal, and Kofy-Sub, he is certain he would find this a long-drawn-out task, based on previous experience.

If you have not given these foods a fair trial you may wonder, but you will not wonder at the results obtained by Mr. Hoover, which so completely changed his attitude towards me, if you too will persistently use them for just a few weeks — quite freely every day. Note I only urge you to try them, not to use them. I know if you will reasonably try them you will not cease to use them. If you will write to me I will send you my free literature and important dietetic information. Address Robt G. Jackson, M.D., 577 Vine Ave., Toronto.

The above is from a photograph of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., taken in his 77th year.

They request that the club help them bring this to attention of the City Council in the very near future.

The Veterans' Motor Club of London, England, has written the local club requesting that they become a member.

* * *

Premier Pattullo has written the Victoria Automobile Club acknowledging the receipt of the letter in regard to having the Dominion Government undertake the maintainance and construction of trunk highways in the four western provinces. The local club has received information that the Washington Automobile Club has purchased a white car to deliver public messages of traffic accident prevention to the entire public of the state. The car is equipped with a public address system, and is being sent on tours over main highways to the larger communities.

URGES TOMATO DUTY CONTINUE

Alan Chambers Wires Ottawa on Behalf of B.C. Growers

On behalf of hothouse tomato growers on Vancouver Island, Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo federal riding, has sent a telegram to Ottawa urging revision of duties on tomatoes.

"With reference to United States trade agreement," he says in the wire, "would urge that fullest consideration be given to representations of British Columbia tomato growers now being presented to you at Ottawa through G. W. Riddle, president, that usual duties be maintained from April 15 to October 15, as formerly. The crop in the Nanaimo federal district alone is worth $400,000 annually and will be very seriously affected."

Mr. Chamber believes that the most direct method of giving some protection to British Columbia hothouse tomato growers would be to revise the duty on Bermuda tomatoes.

Two Are Heard For Citizenship

Two appeared before Judge Lampman yesterday on their applications for naturalization as Canadians.

Theress Eng, who was born in Switzerland, but has been in Canada for twenty-three years, twenty of which have been spent at Hatley Park, was sponsored for citizenship by H. M. Hills and John Hameson.

Dr. Gustavus Prieswerck, also born in Switzerland, who has been here for eleven years, and speaks French, and German as well as English, was sponsored by Peter Wentworth Bell and Robert A. Wootton.

Cheon Chung, chief chef at Government House for many years, was called to appear on his application, but he was not present in court. His case was stood over until the January court.

The judge is sending on to the Secretary of State at Ottawa his recommendations with respect to Mrs. Eng and Dr. Prieswerck for final action.

Repairs to damage sustained in floods in the Skeena area are now going ahead, the B.C. Department of Public Works has been advised. Authorization was given to-day for rebuilding five small bridges that were washed out, the replacement cost being $4,700. General work is being handled by the district office out of the regular maintenance money. As yet a full estimate of the damage has not been made.

FILM SHOWS AUTOS MADE

Continuous Research and Organization of Ford Company Seen by Gyros

The vast manufacturing and sales organization, and the never-ending research which go into the making of a modern automobile were shown to the Gyro Club at its luncheon yesterday in a two-reel talking picture, presented by Jeff Eaton of the Ford Motor Company.

The picture, designed originally for an international sales meeting, introduced Henry and Edsel Ford, and then took the audience on a tour through Ford plants in all parts of the world.

The great furnaces, assembly plants, glass works and the hundred and one other departments of the city-factory at Detroit were first visited, then the works at Dagenham, England, the largest automobile plant in Europe. Other Ford factories shown were the Canadian plant at Windsor, Ont., in Amsterdam, Strasburg, Antwerp and Buenos Aires.

In the Detroit factory, 100,000 men were employed continuously, this year. But an even greater number outside the factories, in agriculture, mining, and almost every other branch of employment depended for their jobs on Ford production.

The picture demonstrated how Henry Ford had bettered his promise of 1,000,000 cars in 1935 by attaining that mark in November.

CONTINUOUS RESEARCH

The fact that research in the Ford factories did not cease with the introduction of a new model was stressed throughout the film. Every development was incorporated in the existing model as soon as it emerged from the great research and testing laboratories.

The picture showed the many phases through which the production of Ford cars went, and the machinery which made it possible in the space of thirty hours for metal to be transformed from ore into a completed part in an assembled car.

The human element was also pointed out in the film. It was shown that more actual man-hours of labor went into the modern Ford than into the first Model T cars, before the greater part of the labor-saving machinery now used had been invented.

Noel Collison of the National Motor Company, local Ford agents, introduced Mr. Eaton.

Charles Coull, secretary of the National Motor Company, was introduced as a member of the club.

CONSTRUCTION GAINS UPHELD

City's November Building Figures Help to Swell Increase Over 1934 Totals

November construction figures in Victoria stood approximately $1,000 above those for the corresponding month last year and helped to add to the favorable balance the city enjoys for 1935 to date against the similar period in 1934, it was reported by officials of the city building inspector's department to-day.

The complete figures for the month just concluded showed thirty-two permits issued for construction totaling $25,107 against forty-three permits for $24,203 worth of work for November, 1934.

Since the beginning of the year, building figures are almost double what they were last year, the figures for the eleven months period being 434 permits for construction valued at $424,593 in 1935, against 425 permits for buildings valued at $244,303 to the end of November, 1934.

Lawyers Unafraid Of Friday, 13th

Friday, the 13th, traditionally considered a day of ill omen for most humans, holds no fear for Victoria lawyers—or, at least two of them.

When Registrar David Reid yesterday called before Judge Lampman the case of J. Lindal v. J. Hamlett, Alexis Martin and H. J. Davis, the two lawyers in the case, arose and agreed that they would like the judge to hear it on "Friday, the 13th of December."

The judge looked at the day on the calendar and then paused as if to learn whether the two lawyers had realized the reputed significance of the day they had chosen.

Each of the lawyers arose and expressed the hope and even confidence that luck would not be against his client, despite the day.

The judge pointed out that, anyway, there were two parties and that no matter how unlucky it might be for the one, the other would have to be the winner.

"Well," said Mr. Martin, thinking the matter over, "we will take our chances."

Mr. Davis expressed his willingness also to take a chance. The judge thereupon approved the traditionally unluckiest day of the calendar for the trial.

FEW MOTHERS DIE IN CITY

Victoria's Maternal Mortality Rate Far Below Average for Canada

Victoria's maternal mortality rate, according to an average struck over the last six years, is little more than one-half of the Canadian average, Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, stated yesterday, following receipt of a communication from the Canadian Welfare Council on that matter.

The average Canadian rate, Dr. Felton stated, was 5.3 per 1,000 live births. This city's average is 2.9.

The communication from the Canadian Welfare Council stated approximately 1,200 mothers died annually, one-half of them needlessly, from causes associated with childbirth.

The letter continued with a description of some of the more common causes of death under that general heading and outlined various methods by which they might be checked.

"The particularly good average in Victoria is largely due to the excellent prenatal work of the Victorian Order of Nurses with the co-operation of local medical men," Dr. Felton stated to-day.

"We have seldom more than two or three deaths a year from childbirth. We have risen as high as 4.3 per 1,000 live births, but the average for the last six years has been only 2.9," he added.

Declarer Makes Game When Opponent Must Take Trump Trick and Play Away From Ace

By WM. E. McKENNEY

State bridge tournaments are becoming more important each year. The calibre of play in some almost equals that of national tournaments.

The recent Pennsylvania State tournament had some of the country's finest players entered. For example, the team of four contest was won by the team captained by B. J. Becker, who at present is leading the field for the title of outstanding player of 1935.

The pair match was won by Fred Kaplan and Charles Lochridge. Lochridge is the present holder of the national pair title.

An example of his card playing ability is given in to-day's hand which was played in the final rounds of the Pennsylvania State tournament. It gave him a lone top score.

His opening two bid, of course, demanded that his partner keep the bidding open. Mr. Kaplan knew the soundness of his partner's bid and responded with two no trump. Later on he showed preference.

THE PLAY

With a diamond opening, the play is unusually interesting. The first diamond trick was won by Lochridge with the king. The ace of diamonds was cashed and then the ace and king of spades.

Declarer then led a small spade which West won with the queen. A small heart was returned by West, South winning with the ace. The king of hearts was played and now the ten of spades.

West was helpless. If he trumped with the jack of hearts, a diamond would be discarded in dummy. If he did not trump, but discarded a diamond, declarer would trump with the eight of hearts, return a diamond back and trump with a small heart. Then, if West did not over-ruff, he would be thrown in with a trump and forced to grant declarer a club trick.

PROGRAMME OF ROMAN MUSIC

Students at Normal School Enjoy Fine Presentation

An enthusiastic audience of students and teachers at the Provincial Normal School on Friday listened to a programme of Russian Music presented by three well-known Victoria artists—Mrs. Thelma Johns, soprano; Mrs. Dorothy Gough, pianist, and Mrs. C. C. Warn, accompanist.

Mrs. Gough first gave an inspiring talk on the development of Russian music during the past century. The programme was as follows: Piano, "The Lark" (Glinka-Balagiref); song, "The Parrot Song," from the opera "Boris Goudounoff" (Moussorgsky); piano, "The Bumble Bee" (Rimsky-Korsakoff - Rachmaninoff); songs, "The Nightingale and the Rose" (Rimsky-Korsakoff), "The Octave" (Rimsky - Korsakoff), "The Snow-maiden," from the opera "Snegourotchka" (Rimsky-Korsakoff); piano, "Romance" (Rubenstein), "Trepak" (Tchaikowsky); songs, "Yearning" (Tchaikowsky), "Why?" (Tchaikowsky); piano, "Polichinelle" (Rachmaninoff).

Before each number, Mrs. Gough spoke on the composer and the style of the selection.

To show its appreciation for the presentation of such a remarkable performance, the school presented bouquets to Mrs. Johns, Mrs. Gough and Mrs. Warn.

Tea was served by Mrs. N. Murphy after the recital to the guest artists and staff of the Normal School.

SALT SPRING

Ganges, Dec. 3.—The monthly meeting of the Ganges Women's Institute was held in Mahon Hall last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Norman Wilson presiding.

It was decided to adopt a crippled child resident on the island. An effort will be made to get the child taken into the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The institute representative to the Agricultural Association reported efforts were being directed towards getting a stage in the Mahon Hall, lined up before the New Year. The president said that efforts were also being made to get new drop curtain. Mrs. Lyn Bittancourt gave an address on "The West Coast of Vancouver Island." Tea hostesses were Mrs. W. M. Mouat and Mrs. H. Johnson. The meeting of the Salt Spring Island A.Y.P.A. was held in the Mahon Hall, November 26, in the form of a social evening, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday of the vice-president, Miss Phyllis Beech. Miss Beech was the recipient of useful gifts.

S. P. Beech, who has been a patient in the St. Joseph's Hospital, where he underwent a serious operation, has recovered sufficently to return to Ganges. He is now a patient in the Lady Minto Gulf Island Hospital.

A pleasant afternoon was spent on Thursday, when for the benefit of the "Guild of Sunshine" funds, Mrs. H. Johnson and Mrs. F. Wagg were joint hostesses at bridge. Mrs. F. Stacy won first prize, Mrs. G. May taking second and Mrs. S. Wagg the consolation.

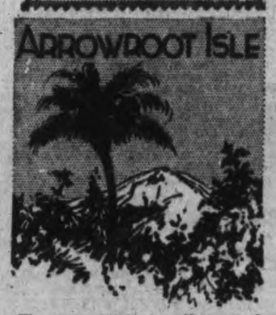
STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein



The arrowroot that mother uses for invalid and baby food, or for thickening gravies, and making candies, desserts, puddings, and biscuits comes, likely as not, from the tiny island of St. Vincent in the Caribbean. Here, arrowroot farming is the leading industry of a mountainous island that has belonged to England since 1762.

Here also is the oldest botanical garden in the new world. It was to obtain specimens of the breadfruit tree for this garden, in 1787, that Captain Bligh of the British naval vessel Bounty, sailed to the South Seas, where the historic mutiny on the Bounty occurred. Later, on another ship, Captain Bligh brought 530 choice specimens of this strange tree to the garden at St. Vincent.

In 1902, a volcano erupted and took 2,000 lives, just one day before Mount Pelee, on nearby Martinique, exploded and killed 30,000 people.

Gives Talk On Prison Reform

Secretary of John Howard Society Addresses Club

Before the Current Events Club, which holds a luncheon meeting each Monday in Spencer's dining-room, the speaker yesterday was Rev. C. G. MacKenzie who, as secretary of the local branch of the John Howard Society, dealt with the "Cause and Cure of Crime."

Prefacing his remarks with a brief statement on the work of John Howard as a pioneer in prison reform in England, Mr. MacKenzie stated that while there were instinctive traits in human nature which, wrongly directed, led to crime, society itself, which was responsible for the general conditions under which people lived, must share some of the blame. Society in an organized sense, recognizing this, should supplement its present method of dealing with crime, which is simply punishment, wi than effort to eliminate the basic causes. When crime has been committed, should adopt some scheme whereby the prisoner, who has served his sentence, might be gradually won back to the status of a good citizen. In some countries the work of saving the criminal was given more attention than the work of punishing him.

In Canada this post-prison stage was left to nobody in particular with the result that many men who wished to go straight found the odds against them more than they can face.

It was to fill this need that the John Howard Society was created.

Mr. MacKenzie then related in detail some of the work of the local branch, pointing out that the society has already achieved worthwhile results in assisting a number of men to begin the first stage of recovery.

Even greater results were envisaged by the speaker if the community should respond by offering the necessary assistance.

MONEY TALKS

—but you must tell it what to say!

LET'S suppose that the dollars you spend were suddenly given minds of their own—and the job of deciding what to buy for you.

They'd have to learn their way around in a hurry. And one of the first things they'd do would be to study the newspapers—every advertisement that discusses something you'd be needing, or wanting. They'd get the latest facts on automatic refrigerators and sports shoes and tea and motor oil and all the rest. They'd make a business of knowing what, where and when to buy.

Are you less careful and less constant in your ad-reading than you should be? Do you have to depend on other people for facts that are clearly stated in the advertising pages of this newspaper?

Read advertising thoughtfully, consider all points you find there on their merits. Find out in advance exactly what things will best serve your needs—and why. After all, that's the only way to get your money's worth, every time.

The real reason for advertising is not to help some one sell something, but to help you buy what you want.

Council Authorizes Worsted Mill Lease

By Vote of Seven to Four Proposal to Bring Barsky and Schneiderman Group Here Is Passed; Seek Sale of Mill Machinery

By a vote of seven to four the City Council yesterday evening approved arrangements for the lease of the B.C. Worsted Mills site to Isadore "Bud" Barsky, George Schneiderman and their associates for the installation of equipment to make it a moving picture studio and production plant.

The action was taken on the recommendation of a majority of the industrial committee. On the vote, Mayor David Leeming and Aldermen Walter Luney, T. W. C. Hawkins, R. A. C. Dewar, P. R. Brown and John A. Worthington approved the plan. Aldermen James Adam, J. D. Hunter, Andrew McGavin and Archie Wills were in the negative.

The vote followed a lengthy debate on the costs of putting the old woollen mill building into shape for the moving picture concern. It was revealed the expenditure entailed would run to approximately $9,100.

The terms of the lease, which were referred back to the industrial and trades development committee to take up with representatives of Mr. Barsky and Mr. Schneiderman, in brief called for a rental charge of $600 a year for the first five years, $750 a year for the next five years and $1,500 a year for the succeeding ten years, with provision for the posting of $2,500 in cash as an indication of good faith by the producers they intended to carry on a bona fide business here.

CITY TO REPAIR BUILDING

Under the suggested terms of the lease, the city would remove the existing machinery in the building, would repair and raise the roof and repair the floor.

After some time the question of selling the site to the producers at its assessed value would be submitted to the people, it was decided.

All arrangements were contingent on the removal or satisfactory reduction of the Canadian tariffs on the equipment the producers intended to bring into the city to establish their plant.

After hearing Alderman Peden present proposed terms of the lease, the council called for a report from D. K. Kennedy, building inspector, on the costs of putting the building in order. Mr. Kennedy stated removal of the machinery, which, it was suggested, should be stored in the C.P.S. mill warehouse, would cost $1,600. Reroofing would run into $1,650, reflooring would entail an expenditure of $2,350 and raising the roof ten feet another $3,500, making an aggregate of $9,100.

After reviewing the negotiations as far as they had progressed and drawing attention to the bond the producers would have to post before any repairs were made, Alderman Peden suggested the machinery now in the mill be sold for the best price possible.

AGAINST BONUS

Alderman Adam remarked on the criticism he had met when he objected to the grain elevator bonusing some years ago. The present arrangement in regard to the picture industry appeared another industrial bonus to him, he said, noting the producers would pay the city only $6,500 if they occupies the premises for ten years after the city had spent $9,100 to fix the building.

"We have got to repair the building at a cost of $5,500," the mayor declared.

Alderman Adam disagreed, claiming necessary repairs could be done much more cheaply. He digressed to state the men seeking the lease had not the backing of the big companies.

"They might be all right, but as far as bonusing them, I'm not for it," he commented.

Alderman Luney referred to recommendation given Schneiderman before declaring the council was not bonusing the project to the extent of $9,000. The roof would have to be repaired under any consideration, he said.

The mayor and Alderman Peden spoke of the change in opinion of the visitors following their discovery of sound nuisances and their latest decision to soundproof the building.

"I would like to see the moving picture industry here, but I don't think we have any moral right to raise the roof at the expense of the ratepayers," Alderman Hunter stated. He noted the floor and roof would have to be repaired.

Alderman Wills stated he had not signed the report favoring the lease because he wanted a statement on costs from the building inspector before taking action. He raised the point of increased insurance the city would have to meet if the building were transformed into a moving picture studio. He was prepared, he said, to have the roof repaired, to remove the machinery and repair the floor, but thought the roof-raising project should not be done at the expense of the city.

WHITE ELEPHANT NOW

Alderman Hawkins declared the woolen mill was a white elephant at present and that for the expenditure of an extra $3,500 as well as repairs, the city might find a tenant for it.

If the venture was a success Victoria would gain greatly from it, he said. He favored outright sale of machinery in the plant at present.

Alderman Dewar noted Mr. Barsky and Mr. Schneiderman proposed to let other producers use their equipment for the complete process of making films. He thought it would be a big benefit to the city.

Alderman Luney also remarked on the possibility of getting a tenant for the building, which at present was a liability to the city. He believed that if the machinery now there were sold the city would save enough on insurance and watchman's wages to pay the extra costs involved in higher insurance on the moving picture lot.

If the project was a success, it would aid the unemployment problem somewhat. If it failed the city was only out the costs of raising the roof, he said.

Both Alderman Worthington and Alderman Peden favored sale of the machinery for the highest price obtainable.

W. T. Straith, solicitor for Mr. Barsky, was called to give information on various phases of the project. He spoke of their recommendations from reputable sources and touched upon negotiations to date, including the plan to soundproof the building.

SMALL OBSTACLE

"You would hardly think a matter of $9,000 would stand in their way," Alderman Adam remarked.

"Quite true," Mr. Straith replied, "but they also have opportunities to go to Regina, Edmonton and Montreal."

They chose Victoria for its proximity to Hollywood and for friendships that had been engendered here, he said. In some details he went into quota regulations favorable to the production of British films.

The vote favoring the lease was finally put and carried. On the recommendation of Alderman Peden the council authorized the business and trades development committee to attend to the sale of the mill machinery.

More Projects Are Approved

City Decides on Four More Schemes For $100,000 Loan Programme

The City Council yesterday evening authorized four more projects on the $100,000 loan works programme with an aggregate cost for labor and materials of $5,617.

Prior to passing the report calling for that work, the aldermen opened a discussion on the classification of men being given employment.

Alderman Archie Wills asked how many men were employed and from what categories they were chosen.

G. M. Irwin, city engineer, stated three gangs of a dozen each were now engaged in the work. Of that number one gang was virtually composed of men picked because they had large families and were in arrears in taxes, while others were selected from the relief rolls where similar conditions prevailed.

All men engaged were doing good work, the engineer reported before stating he would give an itemized report on their qualifications and classifications at the next meeting of the council.

Question of sidewalk construction was also raised at the meeting with the needs of several localities being outlined.

PROJECTS ARE SET

The council then passed the following recommendation from the executive of the public works committee:

"That the city engineer be instructed to proceed with the following works as part of the programme of work being carried on under the $100,000 relief loan.

"Eight-inch sewer on Runnymede for a distance of 1,040 feet which is necessary for purposes of sanitation. Cost of material $736. Labor $1,011. Total $1,748.

"Eight-inch storm sewer on Dallas Road, 300 feet westerly from Eberts Street. Material $295, labor $359. Total $654.

"Fifteen-inch storm sewer on Richmond Avenue, 250 feet from Coronation Avenue to Denman Street. Material $442.50, labor $392.50. Total $835.

"Storm sewer on Denman Street from Richmond Road westerly 275 feet of fifteen-inch, 360 feet of ten-inch and 350 feet of eight-inch. Material $1,123.50, labor $1,056.50. Total $2,180.

The report also recommended as relief work the construction of an eight-inch storm sewer on Shakespeare from Begbie to Pembroke at an estimated cost of material amounting to $370, the extension of an eight-inch storm sewer on Bay Street for a distance of sixty feet westerly from Vancouver, at an estimated cost for material of $30; an eight-inch storm sewer on Carroll Street for a distance of 370 feet southerly from Arbutus at an estimated cost for material of $170; an eight-inch storm sewer on Collinson Street, between Vancouver and Rupert, at an estimated material cost of $300, and the grading and constructing of a macadam road on Begbie Street from Belmont to Pembroke.

Want Aid Agency Confusion Ended

In the belief that many donors were still making contributions to the Friendly Help Welfare Association with the idea that organization was maintaining several of its old services in the distribution of clothing and food to the needy, the City Council yesterday evening considered taking steps to differentiate between that group and the special relief office department in charge of that work.

It was suggested the association take back the name of the Social Service League to avoid conflict with the city department in collection of donations for the needy.

Mayor Leeming explained the association was doing social service work almost entirely at present.

E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, in reply to question, stated the situation was most complex and impossible of definition.

Play Gets Under Way In City Badminton Championships

THE SPORTS MIRROR

HOW FAR does a basketball player travel during the course of a game? That question struck us the other day so on Saturday evening we fixed up Albert Martin, elongated forward of the Dominoes, with a pedometer. In recent games, Martin has taken a lot of ribbing from his teammates about not moving around the floor enough and saving all the steps he can. But we found out that twelve minutes on the High School gym was long enough to take a mile and three-quarters. That means a player on the floor for the full forty minutes would cover somewhere around five miles. That is plenty of ground to get over. And it means the using up of much energy when the quick stops, starts, twists and turns are figured.

Following the recent announcement that Edmonton Grads would not take part in this season's Canadian women's basketball championship playdowns, Patricia Page writes in The Edmonton Journal as follows:

"The explanation for the Grads' probable withdrawal is a simple one. The western finals are scheduled this season for the coast, which would mean that the Grads would lose a week from their work, and then have to ask their employers for two months' leave of absence next summer. The girls just feel that they cannot do it.

"On account of the comment which is bound to accrue if the Grads pass up Dominion competition this year, the public is entitled to these facts: The management of the Grads have offered to take part in the playdowns if the western finals are played in this city instead of at the coast. In the event of their winning, the Grads are prepared to bring the eastern winners to Edmonton. From past experience, both these series would result in a financial loss, but the girls are willing to take a loss rather than default.

"If the coast teams are not prepared to send their winner to Edmonton, the Grads will drop out of Canadian competition this season and play only international contests. This would give the Gradettes a chance to see just how they would stack up against other senior teams. They have had very little trouble during the last two years winning the intermediate championship but the senior title is something else again."

Real bargains among the United States turf's ranking thoroughbreds are few and far between, but at least ten horses, including the great Discovery, fall in that category this year. Although Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt paid $20,000 for Discovery as a two-year-old, the famous chestnut son of Display has earned his oats many times over. As a juvenile, the 1935 handicap champion, holder of two world records, was not much, but last year he picked up $49,555 while trailing Cavalcade through most of the season. He was even greater this year, winning $102,545, the majority of it in piling up eight straight victories.

The most notable bargain of the season, however, was Azucar, the former jumper which young Fred Alger Jr., Detroit, acquired from J. E. Widener for a reputed price of $7,500. The gelded son of Milesius, Irish-bred and with a Spanish name, rolled up a grand total of $117,950, largely because of his victory in the $100,000 Santa Arita handicap.

A. A. Baroni's Top Row, the little speedster that broke Discovery's winning streak in the Narragansett special and then repeated the victory in the Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs, also rates near the top. The California sportsman claimed the son of Peanuts for a mere $3,500 in 1934. Since January 1 he has won $93,120 and ranks with Discovery as the one to beat in the 1936 Santa Anita handicap. King Saxon, rated as greatest of the year's milers; Identify and Good Gamble, stablemates of Discovery; the Canadian-owned Stand Pat and Roman Soldier, also have proved rare bargains among the older horses.

C. H. (Pat) Knebelkamp acquired the ring as a two-year-old for $2,500. He returned $38,010 to his Kentucky owner's pocket. Young Vanderbilt picked up Identify out of a claiming race for $3,500 last year and won $23,095 with the three-year-old before he went wrong at Saratoga. He also paid only $4,500 for Good Gamble, yet the filly earned $35,985.

Favorites Have No Trouble In First Matches

Des Bleasdale, Defending Champ, and Ross Hocking Advance Easily

Opening his campaign for a second successive men's singles crown Des Bleasdale trounced H. Francis 15-8, 15-11. Hamilton Gets Football Final Toronto, Dec. 3.—Secretary R. W. Hewitson of the Canadian Rugby Union announced late yesterday that Winnipeg, western champions, had accepted the decision of the union to play the Dominion final with Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton Saturday.

Winnipegs preferred the game be played at Varsity Stadium, Toronto, but the C.R.U. adhered to the constitution which says the game must be played on the eastern champions' field provided an eastern team won the title the previous year.

SONNY JONES MARKS UP WIN

Vancouver Lightweight Hands Battling Henaire Terrific Beating

Quebec, Dec. 3.—Sonny Jones, flashy Vancouver lightweight, yesterday evening gave Bottling Henaire, hard-hitting Drummondville, Que., boxer, the worst beating of his career in the main bout of a boxing card here.

Gene Letourneau, Henaire's manager and second, threw in the towel at the end of the fifth round when his fighter, although still on his feet, was severely battered. The bout was scheduled for fifteen rounds. Jones weighed 127½, Henaire, 143¾.

The Pacific Coast colored boy completely outboxed Henaire and his lusty punching had the French-Canadian boy's face a swollen battered spectacle when the referee raised the winner's arm. Jones had control of things throughout and most of Henaire's punches missed.

Walker Is Badly Beaten By Seelig

New York, Dec. 3.—Gallant Mickey Walker, former welter and middleweight champion of the world, met another stumbling block along the comeback boxing trail yesterday evening when Eric Seelig, Germany, cut him so badly that their scheduled ten-round bout was stopped in the seventh.

The Rumson, N.J., bulldog, weighing 174¾, was outclassed by the German, who scaled 163¼.

RUGBY PRACTICE

Bays-Wanderers senior rugby fifteen will hold a workout this evening at Oak Bay Park at 7.30 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

WESLEYS WIN HOCKEY

Winnipeg, Dec. 3 (Canadian Press)—Saskatoon Wesleys avenged their defeat of last year's western Canada junior hockey semi-final here yesterday evening when they handed Winnipeg Monarchs a 5 to 4 setback in an exhibition game.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

St. Martin Island, in the West Indies, is a tiny bit of land covering an area of only thirty-six square miles, yet it is as if two nations occupied the island, differing totally in customs and characteristics. Half the island is a French colony, and the other half is Dutch.

Each half has its own government, set of laws, language, coinage system, religious affiliations and mother countries. They have existed side by side for almost three centuries in perfect friendship. The history of the strange double colony goes back to 1648 when Dutch and French explorers landed at the same time, each claiming the island for his nation. The countries involved agreed, however, not to press their claims against each other—and signed a treaty dividing the island between them.

On the north is the town of Marigot, a typical French settlement, while on the south is Phillipsburg, typically Dutch.

Luigi Cornaro, Venetian nobleman born in 1467, gave no heed to his poor health and by the time he was forty physicians had given him up to die. Then, when others had despaired of his life, he decided upon a rigid set of health rules by which he practiced strict abstinence. Soon his health improved and he recovered entirely.

When he was eighty-three—just forty-three years after he was told he could not live—he wrote his "Essay on Temperate Living." He lived sixteen years more, dying at the age of ninety-nine in 1566. Strange as it seems, Cornaro found during the last several years of his long life that one egg a day was enough food to live on.

Chuck Conacher Scoring Leader

Toronto Sniper Moves Ahead of National League Sharpshooters With Eleven Points; Red Metz Leads in Goals Scored

Montreal, Dec. 3.—While the fight for individual honors in the National Hockey League scoring race centred around the first lines of Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks, the second weekly statistics issued yesterday evening by President Frank Calder showed the Canadian division of the league was outscoring the United States section by almost two to one.

Big Charlie Conacher, leading scorer of the last two seasons, was back on top of the whole league with six goals, five assists, eleven points. The Toronto right-winger had one more point than Paul Thompson, Chicago left-winger, who has 6-4-10. A rookie, Red Metz, of the Leafs, has the most goals, with eight.

HIGH SCORING

The Canadian division sharpshooters have scored seventy-five goals in their games to date against thirty-nine by the United States division marksmen. High scoring by Toronto, with twenty goals in three games, accounted largely for the margin.

The crack Thompson-McFayden-Romnes line of Chicago led the United States division with 10-9-8 points, respectively. Harvey Jackson, left wing star, followed Conacher at top of the Canadian division, with five goals, four assists. Metz and Bill Thoms were next, to give Leafs the top four places.

Red Horner's forty minutes with the timekeepers easily headed the penalty parade. Marty Burke, Chicago, and Roger Jenkins, Boston, each had twenty for second place.

Lesieur Suffers Two Broken Ribs

JIMMY FOXX WILL BE SOLD

Star First Baseman Has Been Told So By Manager Connie Mack

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Jimmy Foxx has it direct from headquarters—from no less an authority than Connie Mack, himself, he revealed to-day—that the Athletics are going to sell him.

The burly slugger said he did not know what uniform he would be wearing next year but he emphasized the club that gets him will have to raise the ante considerably over what the A's are putting into their first baseman's pay envelope now.

Recent reports have had him going variously to Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and New York.

"These sale rumors don't surprise me," he said, "because when I saw Connie several weeks ago, he told me that I was to be sold."

HOOP GAMES ARE CARDED

Lake Hill to Meet West Saanich in Feature at High School To-morrow Night

West Saanich Mercantiles and Lake Hill, senior B quintettes, will battle to-morrow evening at the High School gym in the spotlight attraction of the Victoria and District Basketball League's three-game programme.

The encounter should prove to be plenty fast. West Saanich hold top berth in the standings after a string of successive victories. Lake Hill, deadlocked in second place with Hoyle-Brown, will be out in full force, as a win will give them undisputed occupation of the runner-up berth.

Lynn Patrick's Aces and Trade Ats, smooth - working intermediate A squads, will meet in the second game. Both teams are holding prominent positions in this league and are fairly well matched.

The opener at 7.30 o'clock will bring together the Doo Dads and Canadian Scottish squads in a senior C battle.

BOWLING

The winter lawn bowlers are enjoying many opportunities for indulging in their favorite pastime at the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club.

So far there has been weekly games ever since the summer closed.

The representatives of Ward Seven, Saanich, are still in the lead with seven wins and two defeats. Saturday's game against Ward Four was lost by two shots and some weeks ago a star team beat them by one shot.

Bowlers from Victoria City, Oak Bay, Saanich, or Esquimalt desiring to meet Ward Seven should communicate with Walter Tupman, Tillicum Road.

All games are played on the specially prepared green of the Burnside Club maintained for the particular purpose of demonstrating the mildness of the local climate.

OTHER FAVORED TEAM ELEVENTH

By GEORGE MAGUIRE

New York, Dec. 3.—Top-notch Canadian six-day bicycle riders are a rare commodity, the sport still being something of a novelty in many sections of the Dominion. When one comes along, however, he seems to couple spectacular riding with the financial touch of a genius and future economic planning that makes Soviets look like rank amateurs.

The latest to enter this classification is the wild-riding William "Torchy" Peden, flame-haired peddler from Victoria, B.C. Right now the western giant is giving the fanatics of the psycopathic safari their desired quantity of thrills by pushing his two wheeler madly along near the front of the pack in Madison Square Garden's six-day trek to nowhere.

While taking one of his brief moments of relaxation as partner Norman Hill took up the chase, Peden admitted he conserved his earnings so judiciously that he can retire anytime and live a life of ease. That is not his idea of the five-year plan or any other, however.

HAS FUTURE PLANNED

Torchy has his future mapped out so that three more years of bike jockeying will be required before he can call a halt. By that time his net profits will be in the neighborhood of $250,000, he estimates. He will be only thirty-two and in a "perfect position to get married, settle down and enter business."

Peden is back in the Garden for the first time since March of 1934. He was outlawed by the local promoter when he joined up with a fellow Canadian, Willie Spencer, Toronto, ex-rider now turned promoter who gave Peden his first big time chance.

"I am not under obligations to any promoter," said Peden. "I have always drawn the top pay and I am going to demand it. Even if I have to ride "outlaw" as they call it here. I rode in Toronto, Montreal and other cities for Spencer and made more money than I would have by joining Promoter Ben Chapman. So what?"

To-day Peden and Hill had dropped five laps behind the leading team of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, German team, but were ahead in sprint points with 124. Rodman and Yates were tied with the Teutons for top berth but had fewer points.

Alfred Letourner and Gerard Debaets, one of the favored teams in the event, were next to last place, but figured to be well up near the top at the finish Saturday night.

WINNIPEGS IN SHUTOUT WIN

But Western Grid Champs Fail to Impress in Victory Over Assumption

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 3.—Winnipeg's western football champions, regarded as the most dangerous threat in history to the east's gridiron dictatorship, enjoyed a brisk workout yesterday with Assumption College, winning 17 to 0 without producing any of the quality that will be required in the Canadian title engagement at Hamilton next Saturday against the Tigers.

It was the first serious scrimmage in a month for Bob Fritz's western brigade and the team appeared so disorganized at times that the rest of this week is expected to be used to bring the big, fast team from Manitoba up to fighting pitch for the season's football climax.

Fritz threw passes for each of Winnipeg's three touchdowns. From scoring range the burly Fritz made no mistakes, either in strategy or play-production, but his well-softened team showed the effects of a four-week lay-off from training.

Against a lighter but alert Assumption team that has played American football all season, Winnipegs showed a minimum of scoring punch and an amazing lack of defensive strength. They permitted the purple-clad schoolboys to outplay the western wingline for the greater part of a shortened game.

THORNHILL TO GO SCOUTING

Stanford Coach Will Look Over Southern Methodist in Game Saturday

Stanford University, Calif., Dec. 3—Stanford's bulky football coach, Claude E. "Tiny" Thornhill, will personally scout Southern Methodist University in hopes of making his team's third Rose Bowl venture a winning one.

Thornhill will be in the stands when Southern Methodist meets Texas A. & M. Saturday.

"Gotta look those Mustangs over myself," the 238-pound Stanford mentor drawled yesterday. "The way they throw the ball around may mean a change in our defensive play. There isn't a doubt in my mind about S. M. U. having a fine ball club.

"We're not going to be caught napping this time, if I can help it. Look what happened two years ago. We picked Columbia, didn't know a thing about the teams, and took a 7 to 0 dumping. All we knew about Alabama in advance of last year's day were some brief reports mailed to me by friends. We found out plenty during the 29 to 13 trimming. I only hope Southern Methodist will have to open up Saturday."

Eight Stanford boys who as Sophomores played against Columbia, will return to the Rose Bowl to establish a record for individual competition in the game. They include Bobby Grayson, fullback; "Bones" Hamilton, halfback; Woody Adams, guard; Bob Reynolds, tackle; Wes Muller, center; regular ends, Jim Moscrip and Keith Topping, and reserve end, Alex Trompas.

SHARPSHOOTING TRIO OF CHICAGO HAWKS

NOMINATION LIST HEAVY

Seventy-five Leading Horses on List For $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—Seventy-five fine thoroughbreds were named to-day for the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap Feb. 22. Chances were good the list would grow to eighty.

With five more nominated than were listed last spring, indications were the race would be faster and the winning purse larger than the world record figure of $108,400 Azucar won.

While such big names as Equipoise and Twenty Grand that graced the list a year ago were missing, the long parade of fine runners included: Discovery, top stake horse of the year; Azucar, 1935 winner; Top row, which earned more than $100,000 in purses last season; and Cavalcade, 1934 Kentucky Derby winner.

Besides Azucar and Top Row, those returning for the classic will be Ladysman, second place winner; Time Supply, which was third; the Canadian entry Ted Clark, which set the pace most of the way; Head Play and Riskulus. Among additions to the list were Sun Portland, great four-year-old; Rosemont, Singing Wood and Flamenco, an English bred thoroughbred.

WENSTOB DROPS ANOTHER BOUT

Canadian Fighter Beaten By Tommy Farr at London; Armstrong Beaten

London, Dec. 3.—Fighting in different parts of London, two Canadian boxers were defeated yesterday evening.

At Blackfriars, Tommy Farr, Welsh light-heavyweight champion, outpointed Eddie Wenstob, Viking, Alta., in a hard-hitting ten-round bout.

Farr showed himself steadier throughout the bout. Neither fighter showed much science but the heavy punching made it interesting. Farr dominated the first four rounds, keeping Wenstob away with straight lefts. Wenstob rallied in the fifth and landed a hard right to the jaw.

Vancouver Lions Are Back On Top

Turn Back Calgary 4 to 2 to Again Hurdle Portland For Leadership of Northwest Hockey League; Sheppard and McFarlane in Fight

Vancouver, Dec. 3.—Vancouver Lions again took the much-disputed leadership from Portland Buckaroos when they defeated Calgary Tigers 4 to 2 in a Northwest Hockey League encounter here yesterday evening. The two leading teams have swapped the single-point margin every time they've gone into action since almost the beginning of the season.

The Lions, minus Captain Tip O'Neill's services, had to come from behind in the last two periods to overcome an early Tiger lead.

Calgary jumped away to a quick start when Bob Gilmour, smart defence man, picked up the puck at his own goal, made a mad dash down the left boards and slung a high pass to the incoming Dutch Gainor who batted it past the Vancouver goalie, fifty-two seconds after the face-off.

Gilmour, who was Calgary's most effective player, put his team back in the lead again a half minute later when he came in close to drive Stew Adams's rebound home.

With Frank Sheppard, Vancouver's second string centre, playing "heads-up" hockey, the Lions counted two more goals to take the lead before the period ended. Sheppard, pumping across the blue line in his wig-wagging style, shot a fast pass across to Hank Dyck who banged it past Timmins. Ten minutes later Sheppard came in on top of the Tiger goalie to bang Lude Palm's pass into the cage.

After Walt Creasy, Vancouver defenceman, scored his third period goal unassisted, to end the scoring, the fray started to roughen up into a small Donnybrook. Sheppard and Gordon McFarlane began laying their sticks and fists on one another, and, after they were joined by peace-makers, who in some cases turned out to be brawlers, the original offenders along with Calgary's playing manager, Stew Adams took a hike to the penalty bench and the game finished short-handed.

Calgary—Timmins, Gilmore, McFarlane, Gainor, Adams, Carl Sorenson; subs—Chris Soreson, McGregor, Anderson.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Calgary, Gainor (Gilmore), .52.

Penalties—Chris Sorenson, Smith, Gilmore.

Second period—2, Vancouver, Hutton (Smith-Hextall), 2.18; 3, Calgary, Gilmore, 2.50; 4, Vancouver, Dyck (Sheppard), 9.01; 5, Vancouver, Sheppard (Palm), 16.37.

Kiwanis Hear Reminiscences

Dr. C. C. Hoefflin Entertains Club With Memories of Life and Science

"We are at a time when the curing of diseases should be ended." Dr. Charles C. Hoefflin, graduate of the University of Berne, Switzerland, told the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon to-day. "We have the means to prevent all diseases, yet still we go on with the old idea of waiting to cure them."

It was not a question of financial difficulty, he said. The cure generally cost more than the prevention of a disease. The war had shown what could be done in the way of prevention. He asked why that lesson had not been applied after the war.

For thirty minutes Dr. Hoefflin entertained the club with reminiscences of his life in Germany during and after the war, of conditions in Europe to-day and of odd scientific facts.

Most interesting among his remarks on the subject of medicine was the suggestion that the defences of inhabitants of the North American continent against disease were becoming atrophied through the sterility of all that they consumed.

In Canada and the United States everything now came wrapped in cellophane. In France and many European countries bread was passed uncovered through many hands before it came to the consumer, yet disease was not more prevalent there and in fact some diseases had far less serious consequences for Europeans than for North Americans.

Dr. Hoefflin suggested that in years to come persons from the American continent might die off in Europe "like the Italians in Ethiopia" because their powers of resistance against disease had been impaired by having no germs to contend with in their food and in the things which they handled every day.

GERMANY IN 1918

Dr. Hoefflin recalled the days in Germany during the last months of the war, and immediately after the war. The Germans, he said, became adept at making substitutes. They made bandages and towels of paper and now paper bandages were used in medicine as being superior to cotton.

He illustrated the extent of the misery in Germany during the post-war blockade by saying that a two-pound baby was then considered an exceptionally large child.

One strange outcome of the want and half-starvation of the time was the complete disappearance of appendicitis in Germany at that time. This proved that the disease was caused through the consumption of too much rich food.

PREPARED FOR WAR

Europe to-day, he said, was prepared for war at twenty-four hours' notice. On the border of France and Germany, machine guns could be seen every day, loaded and cocked, only waiting for pressure on the thumbpiece. To thousands of people this state of affairs seemed normal.

Almost every airplane in Europe was a potential bomber. It took only five minutes to fit bomb-sights and racks in all German commercial machines he said. In the same way compressors used for making nitrates out of the air were convertible in a few moments into poison gas plants. This duality of purpose was to be seen in every phase of life.

The anti-Semitism of the Nazis was nothing new in Germany. It had existed even immediately after the war, but it was Hitler who had co-ordinated the hatred into a creed.

Dr. Hoefflin was in Germany on the first New Year's Eve after the war. Returned soldiers, he said, got the idea of throwing live hand grenades at each other for amusement. They were so good at ducking that no one was injured. In those days immediately after the war, machine guns could be bought for a couple of cigars and arms of all sorts lay about the streets.

The state of Germany under the Allied blockade immediately after the armistice he termed "a good example of what will happen to Italy if the League really clamps down on it."

MEDICAL AID PLEA SHELVED

Doctors Request For Bigger Grant From City Hoisted For Next Year's Council

Efforts of the Victoria Medical Society to secure a monthly grant of $1,000 for distribution among local physicians caring for city indigent and relief cases, met with a hoist at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

The city heard a letter from the society, pointing out grounds for the claim but shelved the entire matter for the incoming council.

Alderman P. R. Brown moved the letter be tabled and that it be taken up again on February 1 in view of the fact the 1935 city budget was used up

When Alderman J. D. Hunter raised the point of a council committee joining the medical men in a representation to the provincial government on the matter, Alderman Brown added another clause to his motion that the city health and relief committees join a medical society group in an interview with the government. The motion carried.

Mayor Leeming stated the provincial government had stated it would not contribute more than $200 a month to whatever the city paid. The mayor noted the doctors had demanded $1,000 a month to be distributed by the medical society on a service basis to the different members of the profession serving Victoria's needy.

Mayor Leeming stated the matter was again a question of how much of the social service costs were going to be imposed on the ratepayers.

BREAD HIGHER, BUT NO GENERAL RISE

An apparent rise in price of bread which alarmed housewives to-day was due to stores no longer offering bread at cost, but selling it at the ordinary bakery price.

"There has been no rise in price of bread," declared a spokesman for the bakery association to-day. "It's just due to the fact that grocers are now selling bread at 7 cents a loaf, as we always have done, instead of offering it at a loss leader at 6 cents a loaf.

Independent bakers declared they had not put up the price of bread and were not anticipating so doing.

Sing Chong Lon, Chinese, who yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to commit suicide, was permitted to go on suspended sentence by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning. Relief officials testified the man was a relief recipient, receiving $3.70 a week for a family of ten. He formerly received an additional 70-cent-a-week milk allowance which was recently cut off when officials learned he received a free milk issue. The reason for the attempt was that he was poor and unable to provide for his family, the accused told the court yesterday.

A successful smoking concert, under the auspices of the Victoria Quoit Club, was held in the Canadian Legion auditorium, Courtney Street, last Saturday evening. T. Alexander, president of the club, was in the chair and the arrangements were in the capable hands of J. Leiper, T. Scoular and F. Taylor, members of the social committee. Songs were sung by J. Primrose, M. McCaig, T. Scoular, J. McMillan, R. Noble, J. Manson, T. Alexander, J. Jones, W. J. Cull, S. Watt and S. James. Two cups donated by Tom Brunsdon and the Canadian Legion (Pro Patria branch) were presented to the club during the evening.

Parfitt Bros., contractors, last month were awarded judgment to enforce a $28,000 lien against the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Co. Ltd., in connection with the erection of the big plant at Ogden Point several years ago. The amount due represented a 10 per cent hold-back by the owners as a guarantee the building was satisfactory. To-day the argument opened before Judge Lampman as to the size of the fees and costs that should be allowed the lawyers. The argument was carried on by D. S. Tait, who with W. P Marchant was counsel for Parfitt Bros., and D. P. W. Maunsell, counsel for the bondholders and the Quebec Trust Company.

D. C. DAY DIES IN VANCOUVER

On awakening and finding Mr. Day had not yet gone to his room she investigated and found him lying on the floor near his desk. Death was relieved due to heart disease.

SAYS CODEINE SOLD

New Westminster, Dec. 3 (Canadian Press).—John Arthur Dillon, crown witness in the trial of Irene and George Paradis on charges of illegal possession of morphine, has testified he sold codeine for several weeks last summer as an agent for Paradis. He said codeine pills were sold for $1 a dozen and he said he received 15 cents on each sale.

B.C. Hopes To Regain Market

Settlement of Canadian Japanese Trade War Means Much to Province

Word that the Canadian-Japanese trade war will be adjusted comes as good news to the lumbering industry of British Columbia, it was indicated at the Legislative Buildings to-day.

Since the early part of the summer there has been practically no Japanese buying of British Columbia lumber and an increase in exports to that country evident at the first of the year was completely wiped out.

It was estimated that the loss to British Columbia when Japan put a 50 per cent tariff on certain Canadian goods would be at the rate of $6,000,000 a year, chiefly in lumber and paper and pulp products.

Last year British Columbia shipped 80,000,000 feet of lumber alone to the Far Eastern nation. In the first six months of 1933 45,000,000 feet were shipped and then the trade stopped abruptly.

At one time Japan took over 200,000,000 feet a year of British Columbia lumber. This buying dropped off in the depression years of 1932 and 1933, but was starting to build up again.

Lumbermen, it is understood, have been making representations to the federal authorities to have the matter adjusted as quickly and amicably as possible.

If this market is regained, it will probably mean jobs for 2,000 men in the camps and mills of the province, according to calculations made here.

EXPECTS BEEF PRICE TO SOAR

Cattlemen of the Canadian prairies are all for the new trade agreement between Canada and the United States, states Baron Csavassy, cattle rancher and grain grower of Cochrane, Alta., who is at the Empress Hotel to-day.

The price of beef on the hoof will be higher as a result of the agreement and more cattle will be shipped to the States. The cattle raising industry would be stimuateld generally by the new trading pact. The beneficial results should be apparent by next summer, Baron Csavassy said.

The baron owns large acreage in the Cochrane region and in addition to raising cattle also produced grain on an extensive scale. He knows Vancouver Island well and is a frequent visitor to Victoria.

Motor Dealers Meet To-night

Vancouver Delegation Here to Confer With Local Association

To attend a conference of automobile dealers here a party of motor executives representing the Vancouver Motor Dealers' Association arrived at the Empress Hotel to-day from the mainland.

M. Bowell, president of the Vancouver Motor Dealers Association, headed the group which included D. McLean, of the McLean Motor Co. Limited; C. E. Thompson, of Vancouver Motors; R. H. Cockingham, of the Ford Motor Company; Eric Hargreaves and Walter G. Welsford, assistant secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade and secretary of the Vancouver Motor Dealers' Association.

The party was met here by Major P. T. Stern and James M. Wood, of the Victoria Motor Dealers' Association. Golf was played during the day.

This evening there will be a combined meeting of the Victoria and Vancouver associations, in Spencer's dining-room, commencing at 6.30 o'clock. There will be about seventy-five dealers and salesmen present. Matters pertaining to the automobile industry will be discussed.

BOY SCOUTS NEED TOYS

Troops Doing Fine Work in Repairing Toys For Christmas

With Christmas but three weeks away, each evening the Boy Scout Toy Shop at 615 Yates Street presents a busy scene of industry as the relays of Scout troops alternate at duty in their work of repairing the many toys to be given to the children of needy families on the big day of the year.

Scouts from the Third Victoria and Cathedral troops will be on duty to-night and to-morrow evening St. Mary's and St. Luke's troops will take their place.

Although there is plenty of material to work on at present many toys will be needed if all the needy children in the city are not to be disappointed at Christmas. A special appeal is made for dolls, the only ones received so far being of the headless and legless variety.

A telephone call to G 4332, G 3296 or E 1475 and any toys will be gladly called for.

GREAT THRILL FOR LISTENERS

H. J. Cunningham of Philco Radios Tells of Better Reception

In spite of the thrilling reception from abroad experienced by local radio listeners during the last few months, greater thrills and more delightful reception is promised for the coming months by H. J. Cunningham of Radio Sales Service Limited, local Philco distributors. Mr. Cunningham has had many years of experience in the radio field. He states that with the coming of colder weather an increasing number of foreign short wave stations will be available for owners of new Philco American and foreign receivers.

"Short wave reception from foreign countries is constantly improving," he says. "Scarcely a month goes by in which one or more new stations are not put into operation somewhere in the world. Then, too, present transmitters are constantly being improved and enlarged in order that programmes may be received by Canadian listeners more satisfactorily and more regularly.

"Short wave broadcasting is responsible for putting the thrill back into radio," Mr. Cunningham maintains. "It enables the listener, in the comfort of his own home, to listen in on history in the making. The present Italo-Ethiopian situation is but one example. Through stations in London, Berlin, Geneva, Rome, Madrid and Paris, the owner of a new Philco can hear the many and varied news reports concerning events as they transpire. And from them he can get an insight into the thoughts and feelings of the various countries from which they originated.

FAIR OPENS TO-MORROW

Gangs Work All Night Completing Modernistic Lay-out at Armories

At 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon the doors of Victoria's first Winter Fair, at the Bay Street Armories, will be thrown open to the public of the city. One of the best planned and laid out events of the type ever seen here will be revealed to visitors.

All last night gangs of men were working on the erection of the booths, modernistic constructions of a type recalling the Chicago World's Fair or the San Diego Exposition, but all forming part of a unified architectural plan.

The framework of all the booths was in place this morning, and more than half of them were completed.

One half of the drill hall floor had to be left clear until a late hour last night to permit the Canadian Scottish parade.

Without ceasing, work has been going on since the parade ended, and the results are surprising. The gangs will be on the job all night to-night putting the finishing touches to the layout.

T. H. Eslick, general secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, which is sponsoring the fair, remained with his men all night, and this morning stated that he was gratified with the work's progress.

INAUGURATION

The official inauguration ceremony will not take place until 8 o'clock to-morrow night, when Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, will take the place of Premier Pattullo, now absent in the east, for the dedication on behalf of the province. Mayor David Leeming and members of the city council will also take part.

To-morrow will be Victoria Day at the fair. Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay will be honored on the succeeding days.

Many attractions have been planned in addition to the regular displays and sideshows at the booths.

ESCAPE ACTS

One of the most sensational features will be an escape act by William Harkness, well-known local magician, which will be repeated on several occasions during the course of the fair.

Mr. Harkness will be shackled with chains and padlocks and placed in a steel tank. A bar will be placed through the lid of the tank, padlocked in place and then spot-welded to prevent tampering with the lock. The public will be allowed to inspect the whole equipment before Mr. Harkness makes his escape from it.

The provincial government will be well represented with the central booth at the focal point of the four streets of stalls which will make up the major part of the exhibition. The Departments of Agriculture, Forestry, Mines and Fisheries will have exhibits at this circular booth.

The indirect lighting system installed in the booths and decorations will be one of the most attractive features of the general scheme of the exhibition. Hidden bulbs will cast a diffused light over the curves and broad surfaces of the modernistic structures, and will illuminate the translucent signs over each exhibitor's stand.

LIFE SAVING SITE SOUGHT

At the request of members of the Gonzales Community Association, Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the parks board, to-day paid a visit to Gonzales Bay to consider possible sites for a life-saving boat station.

Alderman Worthington explained the association had a sum of money on hand to erect a structure to house the boat donated by A. S. Denny and at present stored in Mr. Denny's boathouse. After looking over various properties, the alderman expressed the view the most suitable location appeared to be at the foot of Foul Bay Road. The city and Oak Bay own Foul Bay Road jointly. He thought a structure right beside the beach on the city's section of the road end might be used satisfactorily.

The C.C.F. Unemployed Council will meet in the parish hall, Esquimalt, to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.

Joan Crawford Here To-morrow

Joan Crawford and W. S. Van Dyke, who collaborated with such success to make "Forsaking All Others," are united again in Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's new vehicle for the glamorous actress, "I Live My Life," which comes to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

Brian Aherne, the English actor who played opposite Helen Hayes in "What Every Woman Knows," is Joan Crawford's leading man in the virile role of a hard-boiled archaeologist who falls in love with a society girl.

Frank Morgan appears as Joan Crawford's father in a role similar to the one he played in "Naughty Marietta."

STRAUS OPERA ON THURSDAY

"The Chocolate Soldier" Will Be Presented By Local Society at the Royal

"The Chocolate Soldier" has always been one of the most popular of the light operas, and merits its popularity, for it is full of color and sparkle, fine solos and rousing chorus, smart action and historic interest.

Members of the Victoria Civic Opera Society are doing their best to make their presentation of this operetta at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week one of the musical highlights of the present season.

A fine cast of principals has been assembled and they will be supported by a chorus of seventy. All have been trained during the last six weeks by Mr. and Mrs. Basil Horsfall, who have had widespread experience in this sort of work.

The music of "The Chocolate Soldier" is such that it can quite truthfully be described as "catchy." One leaves the theatre wanting to hum its airs and whistle its tunes. It is that kind of music. There is nothing heavy about it, although the keenest and most ardent musician cannot help but be impressed by some of the more imposing passages.

MAY ROBSON AT DOMINION

Popular Actress Takes Lead in Comedy-drama "Three Kids and a Queen"

"Three Kids and a Queen," the Universal comedy-drama which opens an engagement at the Dominion Theatre to-day, is May Robson at her best. As the wealthy old maid, eccentric, crabbed and yet filled with an acid humor, this bright star registers a subtle and sure transition from lonely defiance to a blustery sort of contentment, only to have this happiest period of her life interrupted when she is kidnapped by gangsters.

The large supporting cast is one of exceptional ability. Among those who do unusually good work are Henry Armetta, Herman Bing, Laurence Grant, John Miljan and four juvenile players in the persons of Charlotte Henry, Frankie Darro, William Benedict and Billy Burrud, and the company also includes many other capable players in smaller roles.

Briefly, the story concerns Mary Jane Baxter (Miss Robson), world's richest woman, whose avaricious relatives wish to have her confined to an institution so that they may share her wealth. Rendered unconscious when she falls from her carriage in the park, she is taken by three boys to the East Side flat in the front room of which their father conducts a one-chair barber shop. Achieving a real affection for these worthies and the daughter of the family, Miss Baxter refuses to leave or reveal her whereabouts to her family, in spite of the fact that she is the object of a frenzied search by the police under the assumption that she has been kidnapped. Eventually she actually is kidnapped by gangsters, and then begins a series of exciting events which brings this exceedingly interesting picture to a climax.

MATINEE TO AID HAMPERS

In aid of the Saanich Christmas Hamper Fund, a special matinee at which admittance will be by means of fruits and canned goods, will be held on Saturday morning at the Playhouse Theatre.

Mrs. F. F. Osborn, convener of the municipal committee, has arranged with the theatre management to have the matinee between 10 and 12 o'clock Saturday morning and the programme will be for the special benefit of children.

While there is no stipulated amount of goods required as admission, children are asked to bring as much as possible. All goods received will be given towards the hampers, which will be distributed among needy families who would otherwise be without Christmas cheer.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

As a worthy successor to "The President Vanishes" and "Private Worlds," two of the recent season's film hits, Walter Wanger is releasing "Shanghai," which is now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre.

With Loretta Young and Charles Boyer playing the starring roles, the picture tells the tender and poignant love story of a man who had to choose between power and love, and a woman who defied society for the sake of one man.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

What happens when a timid little clerk is mistaken for a desperate criminal is depicted in "The Whole Town's Talking," the fast-moving, exciting Columbia comedy-drama which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre to-day. Edward G. Robinson is cast in the starring role of Arthur Jones, the harrassed bookkeeper whose life is transformed by his resemblance to Killer Mannion.

Also affected by this resemblance is Jean Arthur, the blonde Columbia player who supplies the romantic interest in "The Whole Town's Talking." As the inconspicuous little clerk, Robinson was afraid to pop the question, but he gets the necessary courage from the notoriety that clutters up his life when the desperado escapes from prison.

Wall Street Rally Follows Improved Foreign Outlook

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 3.—A late buying rush in to-day's stock market forced prices up around 1 to 4 points and put the ticker tape two minutes behind floor transactions. In the preceding hours trading had been comparatively slow.

A better brand of foreign news was said to have aided the rally.

The close was strong. Transfers approximated 1,900,000 shares.

Lack of volume on the advance, was conducive to caution among some brokerage customers. An upturn in scattered metal stocks was attributed to a mild revival of inflationary psychology inspired by renewed warnings concerning huge excess bank reserves.

Shares of International Nickel moved up to a new high for the past four years, along with several others.

Gainers included, N.Y. Central, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Texas & Pacific Railway, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Western Union, American Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Gas, Deere, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, McIntyre Porcupine, Dome, Anaconda, Kennecott and Cerro de Pasco.

Toronto Mines Close Strong

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 3.—The closing tone was strong on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange to-day. Golds and base metals registered gains.

Several previously quiet gold issues came to the front and traded in heavy volume at price advances, among them Canadian Malartic, Paymaster, Howey, Greene Stabell and Sullivan. Silvers were barely firm and the oils were slow and unchanged.

Gains of more than a point were boarded for Noranda and Hudson Bay and among the cheaper base metals, Falconbridge, Sudbury Basin, Ventures, Sherritt and Base Metals Corporation ruled higher. Big Missouri was off a notch to 59.

Central Patricia closed with a net gain of about 10 cents. Advances of 2 to 5 cents appeared also for San Antonio, God's Lake, Cariboo, Macassa, Pickle Crow and Beattie. Gonarium gained about 15 cents and Canadian Malartic advanced to 1.14 and closed with a net gain of about 15 cents around 1.10.

In the high-price group gains were registered for Dome, McIntyre, Lake Shore, Hollinger and Wright-Hargreaves.

Some of the silver stocks weakened about two cents each, including Eldorado and Bear. Castle was strong. Greene Stabell, Paymaster, Howey, Sullivan and Stadacona had gains of 2 to 7 cents showing at the close.

Vidette Gains 12 In Active Trading On Vancouver List

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 3.—Vidette continued to climb again during the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, coming out for a jump of 12 cents to close after active trading at 92.

Reports milling has been resumed at the property was believed the main reason for a fresh advance. The stock traded over 13,000 shares.

Mines continued to improve, but oils were still easier. Aided by heavier sales in the cheaper stocks, total market transactions got up to almost 200,000 shares.

Grull Wihksne was most active of the list, coming out for a turnover of more than 26,000 shares and ending with an advance of one cent.

Reaction set in on Dentonia which dropped three cents in active trading. Reno was a feature of the morning session bringing better trading to end up one cent.

Congress was firmer and added a half cent. B.C. Nickel was up two cents, with Big Missouri off a cent. Fractional advances appeared in B.R.X., Nicola and Morning Star. Oils were quiet.

The close was ⅝ to ⅜ cent higher, December at 85¼, May 89, and July 89⅜ cents.

Scattered short covering, coupled with export sales of 250,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, enabled local values to rally from opening recessions that were brought about by weakness at Liverpool and Buenos Aires.

Operations, however, were at a minimum throughout. Liverpool closed 1d to ⅝d lower. Buenos Aires also was off 1⅜ 1⅝ cents. Chicago's tr paralleled that of Winnipeg.

Spreads on most grades of wheat were fractionally improved in the cash grains division. Coarse grains prices were firm.

Chicago, Dec. 3 (Associated Press).—Late rallies of wheat prices to-day at times more than overcame earlier losses.

Messages from Winnipeg that reported some wheat buying attributed to European continental account provided more or less of a stimulus. General speculative buying interest in Chicago, however, lacked volume, although private reports showed a tendency to reduce estimates of the probable Argentine exportable surplus.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish, to ⅜ higher, May 96⅝ to 96¾, corn ⅜ off to ⅛ up, May 58¼ to 58⅜, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, and provisions showing 2 cents to 10 cents advance.

HAILE SELASSIE IN PEACE MOVE

Genevieve Tabouris, informed commentator, writing in L'Oeuvre, said the plan was believed to offer Italy a strip of territory along the northern and southern Ethiopian frontiers, with Ethiopia being offered a seaport on the British Somaliland coast.

The plan was generally considered inacceptable to Italy, which has sought regions deeper in Ethiopia between its colonies of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

Mme. Tabouris reported Il Duce failed to show the slightest sign of negotiating on any such basis as the Franco-British proposal.

DETACHMENT DEFEATED

Addis Ababa, Dec. 3.—The Ethiopian government to-day reported the defeat of a detachment of 500 Italians in Tembien province November 30.

An official communique said: "A detachment of 500 Italians was surprised in a mountain gorge near Salama, Tembein province, November 30.

"It retreated in panic after several hours' fighting, leaving fifty dead, arms and provisions. Fifteen Ethiopians were killed."

The communique also stated: "Despite Italian denials, it is again categorically confirmed that the Italians have withdrawn from Gorrahei and Gerlogubi."

(The Ethiopians first announced the recapture of the latter two cities in southern Ethiopia last week.)

FIGHT NEAR PASS

Rome, Dec. 3.—Several Ethiopians died and one Italian officer and five of Italy's native soldiers were wounded in an engagement south of Abaro Pass, on the northern front, an official communique said to-day.

"Our columns repulsed an attack by about 200 Ethiopians in the region south of Abaro Pass," the communique said.

"The enemy fled, abandoning several dead. On our side, an officer and five Askaris were wounded.

ITALIAN OIL SCHEMES

Rome, Dec. 3.—Premier Mussolini's cabinet met the threat of a League of Nations oil embargo to-day with plans for increasing i' supplies of oil and reducing its use.

Oil is to be produced in greater quantities and every possible step is to be taken to hasten Albanian production and the output of native Italian wells.

An official communique, issued after a session of the cabinet, announced provisions affecting refineries to be maintained by plants producing oil as a by-product.

Operators of coke and gas factories and tar distilleries were instructed to maintain oil refining equipment sufficient to handle the output of their plants.

In addition, an administration for Italian minerals and metals was created to accelerate discovery and development of oil deposits in Italian lands.

FOOD MEASURES

With sanctions again uppermost in their minds, the ministers adopted other measures to conserve and augment the domestic food supply.

Creation of a "brain trust" to remodel the Italian diet along wartime lines was announced by Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party.

He said press reports about the north China situation had been "rather exaggerated" and declared negotiations between the autonomists and Nanking were nearing a successful conclusion.

No one was left alive to tell whether any of the inhabitants of the village, set in the Andes, were awakened before the slide hit.

TEXTILE HEADS IN DUTY FIGHT

British Delegation Seeks Lower Tariff on Goods Entering Canada

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—British and Canadian textile manufacturers locked horns before the Tariff Board to-day in a controversy over tariff rates on cotton yarns, cotton cloth, artificial silk and mixture cloths.

The British delegation sought a downward revision of the duties and the Canadian manufacturers, while agreeing a review of the tariff rates by the board was desirable, claimed the present rates were not too high.

For the British side it was argued the preferences granted under the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement of 1932 were no help. It was claimed any increase in British exports to Canada since that time was due to a revival of Canadian consumption and a decline in imports from the United States. Canadian factories also increased their output in the same period so the business the British obtained had not been at their expense.

Britain Floats Great Loans

Associated Press

London, Dec. 3.—The Treasury caused some surprise to-day with an announcement the government had floated two large loans totalling £300,000,000 (about $1,458,000,000).

Coming at a time when Europe was fearful of an outbreak of war as a result of tension over the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, the announcement aroused speculation as to how much of the sum might be used to strengthen national defences.

Later in the day the government announced about $250,000,000 of the total bond issue would be alloted for defence.

It is expected the first instalment will be granted to the Admiralty, so that the long-anticipated reconstruction of Britain's fleet may be undertaken immediately.

MUST LIST U.S. MUNITIONS

Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 3.—Secretary Hull to-day threatened criminal prosecution of firms and individuals handling arms, ammunition and implements of war who thus far have failed to register with the government as prescribed by the Neutrality Act.

The Secretary of State made public a list of eighty-six persons and companies who have met the requirements of the neutrality law by registering within the prescribed ninety-day period.

Associated Press

Muskogee, Okla., Dec. 3.—Five prisoners, including four convicted in the simultaneous robbery of two Okemah National Banks December 22, 1934, broke from the city-federal jail here to-day after critically wounding Chief of Detectives Ben Bolton.

One of the prisoners was fatally wounded by Chief of Police Marsh Corgan.

Four of the five who made good their escape in a commandeered car were members of the notorious Irish O'Malley gang of kidnappers and bank robbers.

They are Den Heady of Kansas City, Mo.; Dewey Gilmore, Dallas, Tex.; Russell Cooper, Fort Smith, Ark., and Leonard Short, Galena, Mo., wrestling promoter.

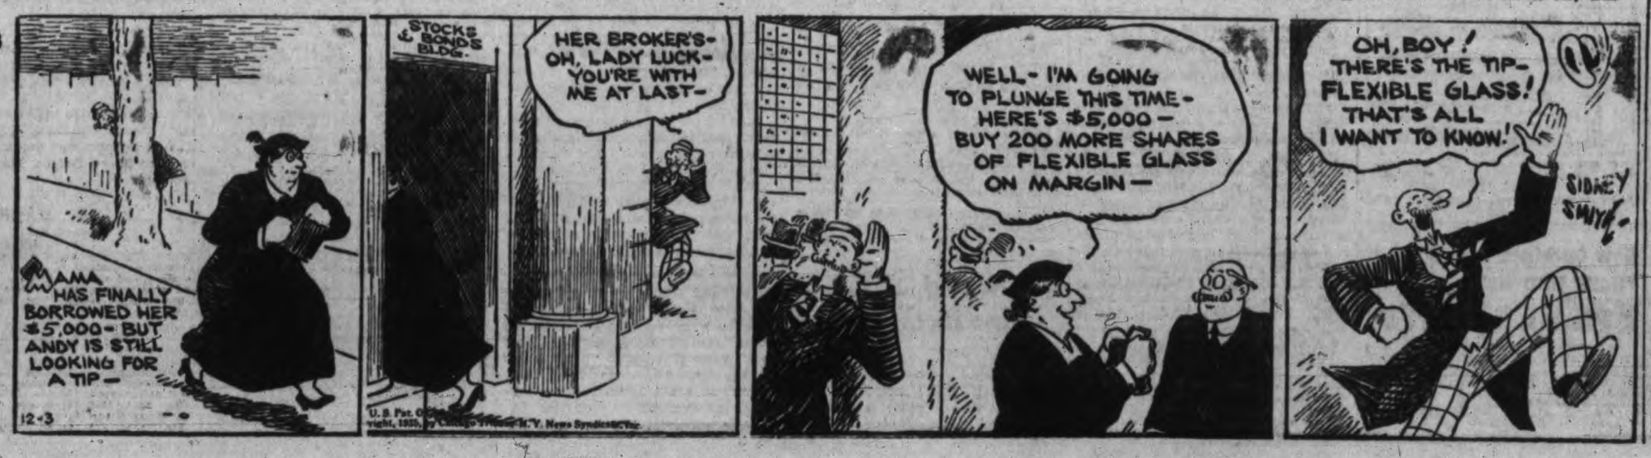
Never would she see him again, and now she knew she loved him. Meanwhile, the caravan plunged into the burning desert, braving the fierce sand storms and climbing with difficulty over the loose sand hills. The sun poured down its intense heat.

The sand was too hot to touch. They reached a welcome oasis and made camp. Pat, dismounting, faced her master, who motioned her to his tent. As she drew back, dismayed, he raised a whip, determined to force her to obey him.

The Gumps



Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—A few years ago my husband died and left me several thousand dollars, most of which I have spent for clothes and entertainment. During this time I have been employed as secretary to a very wealthy man of prominence, and I had hoped to persuade him to divorce his wife and marry me. To cover up my affair with this man I have been going with another man for some time, but he does not seem anxious to marry me either. Unless I marry one of them, I do not know what to do, as I have a daughter who wants many things. Will you please advise? S.B.

Answer—You will not take my advice because it is bitter medicine that you will not relish. For my advice to you is to face about while there is yet time and begin a new life. Give up your job, which is merely a cloak for liaison, and get one in which you will give honest work for honest pay. And cut down your and your daughter's expenses so that you can live within your income. Surely no girl wants luxuries that are the price of her mother's shame.

You have taken what is euphoniously called "the easiest way" for a woman to make money, but, believe me, it is the hardest because money earned that way has a curse upon it. The cakes and ale of immorality are bought dearly by a woman and they leave a frightful indigestion and headache after she has eaten them. They lie heavy on her conscience. And, no matter how rich and warm the furs in which she clothes herself, she shivers under them at the cold and appraising glance which respectable people turn upon her.

The wages of sin are popularly supposed to be topnotch and the ladies who indulge in illicit affairs are believed to be housed in silken-padded lovenests and to have jewels and Paris finery and limousines lavished upon them, and to be supplied with inexhaustible pocketbooks. Nothing is further from the truth. Vice is the poorest paid of all occupations, especially for women. Three-fourths of the girls who lead the double life have not only to support themselves but also their paramours. Even the luckiest of them have but a brief and insecure period of luxury. For the men who are known as spenders are hard beset by the gold-diggers, and in the end virtually every ladylove gets cut out and comes to dire poverty and want.

So, leaving aside the question of morality and decency and self-respect, and the respect of others, being a play girl cannot be recommended as a job for women. It lacks permanency, for one thing. Men have fickle fancies and they soon grow tired of their toys, particularly when the paint begins to wear off and they are no longer fresh and beautiful.

Furthermore, the job seldom has a future. Particularly is this the case when the man is a married man, for, however much he may talk of his wife being unsympathetic and not understanding him or of their not being companionable, it is observable that he bears his blighted life with great fortitude and cheerfulness and very seldom does anything about it. So the girl who depends upon her married lover divorcing his wife to marry her breaks her heart in endless waiting, and finds at last that she has invested her all in a dream that blows up in the end.

So my advice to you, S.B., is to go to work and make an honest living for yourself and your daughter instead of trying to graft it off of men. It will pay you better even financially in the end. And believe this, for it is true: To get any real pleasure out of money we have to be able to look every dollar of it in the face, just as we have to be able to look ourselves in the face in order to be happy.

* * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a daughter nineteen years old who is a cripple and whom I am very anxious to help to a start in life. I am a poor man, but I am willing to go in debt to give her a business course and provide her with the proper clothes, and when she has finished the course I could get her a good position with friends of mine so that she would be self-supporting. But the trouble is that her mother and I have been separated for ten years and the mother will not permit the girl to come and stay with me or with her older sister, who is married, until she can finish the business course, or to go to any place where I could afford to send her. The mother has no way in the world of providing for the girl. But here we are deadlocked—I wanting to provide for the girl in the only way I can and the mother refusing to let me, and the girl so completely under her mother's influence that she won't do what she wants to do. Can you tell me what to do? J.H.

Answer—The mother evidently thinks she is revenging herself on you by keeping you from carrying out your plan about the girl, and she is so blinded by her own fury that she does not see that she is wrecking her daughter's life. It is as terrible an example of stupidity as I have ever known.

It is pitiful to think that this girl, who has already been dealt one cruel blow by Fate, should be given an even heavier one by her own mother. For the only thing that could take the curse off of her affliction is for her to be given some interesting occupation with which to fill her life, some chance to do something worth while in the world and the ability to make herself financially independent.

Her mother must know that a girl who is crippled is cut off from many of the pleasures of youth and that she has a far less chance to marry than one who is not so handicapped. But her affliction will be minimized if she can have the compensation of a good job, of doing good work, getting good pay and doing all the pleasant things and having all the nice things that money would enable her to do and have.

The poor crippled girl without any business training must take any kind of hard menial labor that offers. The crippled girl with a good business training can aspire to any sort or executive position and a big pay envelope to which her mental abilities entitle her.

To a crippled girl a business training is a pair of crutches on which she can go anywhere, and it is inconceivable that a mother would be willing to deprive her of such an aid.

The only practical advice that I can give you, poor, perturbed father, trying your best to do your duty under hard circumstances, is to get your married daughter to go and talk to her sister. Perhaps she can brace her up enough to defy her mother and take the course that will mean her salvation.

* * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been secretly married a year this month. My husband keeps putting off our living together, telling me that he wants to get into a better position, although he makes enough for us to live on. I am afraid that our marriage will go blooey like all other secret marriages seem to do. I have noticed that after six months that couples get tired of each other and that's the end of the beautiful thing. I don't want ours to peter out that way, so what must I do? MRS. A. O. C.

Answer—Tell him that you are tired of a hole-and-corner marriage and that he owes it to you to acknowledge you before the world as his wife. If he has got tired of you and lost his enthusiasm for marriage, it is far better for you to know it now than later.

Uncle Wiggily's White Ball

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, was looking at the calendar hanging on the wall in the kitchen of Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. Baby Bunty knew what a calendar was, though, being only in the second grade at the Hollow Tree School the orphan rabbit couldn't spell such a big word yet.

But she knew that a calendar was something by which you could tell the days of the week—when Monday was the second of December and when Tuesday was the third.

"Bunty, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out to the kitchen to get a piece of carrot bread with cabbage molasses spread on it. "Bunty, you seem very much interested in that calendar."

"I am, Unkie Wig," answered Bunty. "I am counting the days to see how many more there will be until Christmas comes."

"How many days do you make it, Bunty?" asked the rabbit uncle.

Bunty looked at Nurse Jane's calendar again and after slowly counting, she said: "It will be Christmas twenty-two days after to-day. This is December 3 and twenty-two and three make twenty-five and Christmas is December 25."

"That's right, Bunty," said Mr. Longears, laughing. "And as you are home early from school to-day, how would you like to come with me, adventuring in the woods?"

"Oh, Unkie Wig, I'd love it!" exclaimed Bunty, clapping her little paws and trying to twinkle her tiny pink nose as Uncle Wiggily did his larger one.

"Come along, then," invited Mr. Longears. So he and Bunty hopped to the woods. Uncle Wiggily whistling a merry tune and Bunty humming a little song about how Christmas Day would soon be here, how it was the happiest time of all the year, how Santa Claus would soon appear bringing presents from far and near.

As Baby Bunty sang Uncle Wiggily listened. Then he saw the little orphan rabbit looking up anxiously at the sky.

"What are you looking for, Bunty?" he asked. "Do you think Santa Claus in his airship is already on his way?"

"Oh, no, Unkie Wig," said Bunty. "I know Santa Claus won't be coming for over three weeks. But I don't like him to come in an airship. I would much rather he came in the old-fashioned way, with his reindeer and a sleigh and jingling bells. Of course it will be nice whichever way he comes, but I think the reindeer are nicest. Only they must have snow, so I was looking up at the sky to see if it would snow soon. I always like snow at Christmas."

"So do I, Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily. "But it is a little too soon to expect Christmas snow."

"Yes, I guess that's right," said the orphan rabbit. But as she looked so disappointed at not seeing any snow Uncle Wiggily decided to play a little harmless joke on Bunty. He wanted her to be happy. So he told her to stay where she was a moment. Then Uncle Wiggily hopped behind the buttonball tree where, the day before, Mr. Stubtail had gotten new buttons for his old coat and where the jolly bear gentleman had clawed open some of the fluffy seed pods, filling the air with white, whiskery down like snow. There was still some of this down on the ground.

Quickly Uncle Wiggily made a white ball of the fluffy seed stuff and tossed it toward Bunty. Seeing it the orphan rabbit cried:

"Oh, Unkie Wig! A snowball! The first snowball! Now Santa Claus can come with his sleigh and reindeer." Then Mr. Longears told Bunty about his little joke, but she didn't care. She just laughed. And if the pussy cat doesn't put two auto horns on her head and pretend she is a bulldog, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Lulu's dress.

Puget Sound Strike Deadline Advanced

Others Not Directly Involved Enter Controversy; Deadline Is Postponed Twenty-four Hours; Governor of Washington Enters Plea For Settlement

Associated Press

Seattle, Dec. 3.—Labor leaders and unions not involved directly in the Puget Sound ferry strike entered the controversy at the "eleventh hour" to-day and shipowners postponed for twenty-four hours their deadline, set for 5 p.m., to-day, for strikers to return to work.

"We have been requested by other labor unions than those on strike," said Capt. F. E. Lovejoy, president of the shipowners, "to postpone the time set for resumption of service under police protection.

"They have hopes they can assist in working out a settlement.

"This has been done. Service will not be restored to-night 'with or without' union crews, unless new negotiations fail."

The new negotiations were on the programme of a conference called at the office of John H. Conners, state labor commissioner, after Governor Martin appealed yesterday evening to both sides for "immediate resumption" of service. Conners said the conference's subject matter will be "absolutely open."

Captain Lovejoy attributed the intervention of labor leaders outside the striking unions to a belief that "organized labor does not want to see a small group kick over an arbitration award."

Operators prepared to suggest that the strike issues be submitted to an impartial group, as Governor Martin advised, and that unions return to work pending review of the issues and a new arbitration award.

Meantime Governor Clarence D. Martin entered the controversy late yesterday with telegrams pleading with both sides to restore service in the public interest.

"I am greatly concerned by the plight of the people of Bainbridge, Vashon and the Olympic Peninsula who are inconvenienced and are suffering financial loss, because of the suspension of ferry and steamer service on Puget Sound," the Governor wired Captain Fox and Capt. F. E. Lovejoy, president of the Washington Steamboat Owners' Association.

"Therefore, I appeal to you for immediate resumption of this service.

"My hope is that service can be restored pending a settlement of the dispute, and that a satisfactory settlement be reached by way of mutual understandings.

"If such negotiations do not succeed, I shall be willing to name a committee of fair-minded citizens, together with proper representatives of the state, to review the issue involved for the information of the public and the guidance of this office, the governor messaged.

SEVENTY FISH BOATS BURNED

Seattle, Dec. 3.—James Parks, president of the Pioneer Sea Foods Company, said to-day the loss from a fire which destroyed a cannery and warehouse at Eyak, near Cordova, Alaska, last Friday, would be at least $200,000.

Seventy fishing boats, half of them owned by the company and the rest independently, were also burned.

Around the Docks

For annual overhaul and inspection, the Imperial Oil Company's tanker Albertolite is now in Esquimalt harbor. She was floated out of the Dominion Government drydock yesterday and is now alongside the landing wharf for final work. Yarrow's Limited expects to release her to-morrow. The Albertolite plies along the Pacific Coast, calling at San Pedro, Port San Luis and Ioco, near Vancouver. While at Esquimalt she is being cleaned and painted and is having some work done on her boilers.

SAILS TO-MORROW

On her way to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney, the motorship Aorangi will sail from Victoria to-morrow afternoon at 5.30 o'clock with a good list of passengers, including a large group of people who will disembark at Honolulu to spend the winter months on the Hawaiian Islands. Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown will say farewell to Victoria as master of the ship, for upon arrival in Sydney in three weeks he will retire from sea service.

SUPPLY SHIP NAMED

Seattle, Dec. 3.—Pan-American Airways has chartered the Seattle steamship North Haven of the Northland Transportation Company for a five or six month voyage from San Francisco to Guam and the Midway Islands, via Hawaii, the vessel arrived here Sunday from Gulf of Mexico ports. She will sail from San Francisco in January laden with supplies and equipment for Pacific Ocean stations of the Airways Company, now being served by the China Clipper and shortly by the Philippines Clipper and the Honolulu Clipper.

The lighthouse tender Estevan is now on the West Coast of Vancouver Island on her annual Christmas trip to lighthouses around the island. She is delivering supplies and Christmas treats to the isolated keepers and their families. She will go right around the top of the island, and will return here via the East Coast, reaching her base in the Inner Harbor about the middle of the month.

ORIENT SAILINGS

There will be two sailings from northwest ports this week for the Orient. To-morrow the Ms. Hiye Maru will get away from Vancouver with Christmas mail for Japan and China. She will be the last ship from the northwest carrying mail in time for Christmas delivery in China. On Saturday the American Mail liner President Grant will sail from Victoria direct for Yokohama. Mail going aboard her will be in time for Christmas delivery in Japan.

PASSED VICTORIA

After a twenty-six-day voyage from Hawaii, the five-masted sailing schooner Vigilant, Capt. Charles A. Mellberg, was off Victoria to-day on her way to Bellingham. She furled her sails off Capt Flattery and was taken in tow of the tug Active. The Vigilant will remain in port over the Christmas holidays but expects to sail on another voyage to Honolulu early in the new year.

Death At Sea From Smallpox Reported

Young Member of Crew of Ss. Prince Rupert City Buried in Pacific; Another Removed at William Head and Ship Detained Forty-eight Hours

Smallpox aboard the Ss. Prince Rupert City resulted in the death at sea of a young English apprentice named Johnstone, the removal of a deckboy named Whitfield at the William Head quarantine station and the detention of the ship there for forty-eight hours.

After her unfortunate voyage across the north Pacific from Korea, the Prince Rupert City reached William Head Sunday morning. The deckboy was immediately removed to hospital and other members of the crew were given medical inspection. The ship was then thoroughly fumigated and allowed to continue her voyage to Vancouver at 9 o'clock this morning.

NOT VACCINATED

The boy who died at sea and the other that contracted the dread disease were the only two members of the crew who were not vaccinated. Burial of the dead boy at sea was reported, with the captain of the ship reading the burial service.

The present case of smallpox at William Head is the first in about eighteen months. The boy is resting comfortably and the doctors give him every chance of recovery. It will be some weeks, however, before he will be ready to leave. His ship, meanwhile, will have left northwest ports and he will either be put on another ship of the Reardon Smith Line or sent overland across Canada and via the Atlantic to his home in England.

Doctors at William Head are today having one of their exceptionally busy days. The Nordbo was passed this morning and due this afternoon are the Nordic, the Jetsuyo Maru, the India and the Levington Court.

N.Y.K. Makes Staff Changes

Several Appointments Made at Semi-annual Meeting; Extra Dividend Is Voted

At the semi-annual meeting of the shareholders of the N.Y.K. Line, held at Tokio November 29, the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the company was commemorated by the voting of an extra dividend of 2 per cent in honor of the occasion. This was in addition to the regular dividend voted, 5 per cent.

At the meeting of the board of directors which followed the stockholders' meeting, Kenkichi Kagami was made chairman of the board; Noboru Ohtani, president, and Midzutaro Watanabe, vice-president. Mr. Ohtani visited Victoria last in 1928 as vice-president of the company and Mr. Watanabe is well known to business leaders and waterfront men of the northwest as he was manager of the N.Y.K. Line's Seattle branch from 1920 to 1922.

Other changes of interest to the northwest are the appointment of Seichi Nakase, now manager of the N.Y.K. at San Francisco, to be manager at Kobe; the appointment of Kazuo Takahashi, now manager at New York, to be manager at San Francisco, and the appointment of Sho Yanase, now manager at Nagoya, to be manager at New York. Mr. Nakase was sub-manager of the Seattle branch from 1917 to 1920.

Aquitania Had Rough Voyage

Big Liner Had Portholes Smashed and Was 24 Hours Late at New York

New York, Nov. 28 (By Mail)—The Cunard-White Star Liner Aquitania arrived yesterday with 459 passengers from channel ports, twenty-four hours late because of continuous storms virtually from Cherbourg breakwater to the Ambrose Lightship.

The worst two days were on Friday and Saturday, when the wind blew from the north at a velocity of seventy-five to eighty miles an hour. On Saturday twelve ports were smashed in the first class and the tourist accommodation, flooding the dining salon on the lee side and also the cabins above.

Another high sea smashed a window in the garden lounge sixty feet above the water line for the first time since the Aquitania has been in Atlantic service and a following sea smashed one of the ports in an officer's room, another fifteen feet above the water line and also the room of C. G. Johnson, the chief purser, hurling half a large port on his bed.

Staff Captain Crosse said that Saturday was really a bad day, although no one was injured. Passengers were kept inside, all doorways on to decks being securely locked and bolted. Only a few passengers, however, were up and about, the majority of those on board figuring their beds were the safest and most comfortable places as long as the big liner plunged about.

The Duke of Manchester and Sir Charles and Lady Marston were among the passengers on the Aquitania. They described the voyage as the worst they had ever experienced across the North Atlantic.

There were 135 passengers aboard the Empress, thirty-six of them being in the first and tourist classes and the remainder in the third class.

Griffiths, of Logan and Amps at Hongkong, en route to Birmingham; M. Peerpont, also of Logan and Amps, and G. E. Siedle, former sales manager of H. J. Heinz and Company, returning to London.

Other passengers on the Empress of Asia were Miss E. I. de Aguero of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. G. Aquilera, en route to Havana; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Eppenauer and two children, bound for San Angelo, Texas; Miss R. Fleming of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Hagtinguis and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Houven Van Oordt, on their way to Holland; E. Von Koch, going to Germany.

Nearing the end of their long voyage from the British Isles, Mrs. Florence Normington and Mrs. Mary Pazolt arrived in Victoria this morning by the Ms. Pacific President. Mrs. Normington is returning to her home in Vancouver after a visit to England, Mrs. Pazolt is en route to Princeton, B.C., from her home in England.

A party of Portland people arrived on the Pacific President on a holiday trip to the northwest. They will remain aboard the ship until she reaches the Columbia River metropolis late next week. In this group were Mr. and Mrs. W. Clay-Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Russell and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hill. Also on a holiday visit was Thomas Davies of Ocean Park, California. He joined the ship at San Francisco.

Charles Suydam Cutting, the first American to enter Lhasa, the sacred city of Thibet, arrived in New York the other day from Europe on the German liner Europa. He was the ninth white man to visit the city "on the roof of the world," as it is called in the East.

Also on the Europa was a group of thirty-two German chemists who are attending the Exposition of Chemical Industries in New York City this week.

Henry S. Guinness, London banker, sailed from New York last Friday on the Europa with Mrs. Guinness. Other passengers on the same ship were Senator H. W. Laird of Montreal.

STRIKE ORDER IS IN EFFECT

Nation-wide Ban Against Ships Touching Gulf Ports Started To-day

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—A nation-wide stevedores' strike order against steamship lines serving Gulf of Mexico ports went into effect to-day, but in San Francisco leaders of longshoremen disagreed as to how sweeping the ban would be.

William J. Lewis, district president of the International Longshoremen's Association, declared his interpretation of the strike order sent out by Joseph P. Ryan, international head of the organization, was that it applied only to two companies that have refused to deal with the I.L.A.

Harry Bridges, president of the San Francisco chapter, asserted the ban would apply to all ships of lines touching Gulf ports, regardless of whether the particular ships involved actually stopped in at such ports.

The arrival yesterday evening of the Katrina Luckenbach from San Pedro added tension to the situation. The vessel was the first of the "hot cargo" ships to arrive on the Pacific Coast since the Gulf I.L.A. strike began October 1.

Bridges said it would not be worked until the dispute is settled.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.
